This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, JAN. 4, 1907.

To the Honorable Senate and the House of Representatives.

I have the honor to submit, in compliance with the Revised Laws, chapter 5, section 10, the fifteenth annual report of the transactions of this office, including the returns of the number of liquor licenses granted by the several cities and towns, the amount received for such licenses, and the votes of the cities and towns on the question of granting them; also the returns of the sheriffs of the several counties, of money received by them, and of their attendance upon a court of record and the county commissioners. This report, by reason of the passage of chapter 211 of the Acts of 1905, covers eleven months, ending Nov. 30, 1906.

There is also presented, in compliance with the statute of 1905, chapter 321, abstract and tabular statements of the returns of the clerks of the superior court for the several counties and the clerk of the superior court for civil business in the county of Suffolk; of the number of jury cases, of jury waived cases and of equity suits pending at the beginning of the year; of the number of each of said three classes of cases entered during the year; of the number of cases of each class actually tried during the year; of the number of cases of each class disposed of during the year by agreement of the parties or by order of the court; of the number of cases of each class remaining untried at the end of the year; of the number of cases wherein the verdict of the jury has been set aside by the court on the ground that it is excessive; and of the number of days during which the court has sat in each county for the hearing of each of said three classes of cases.

Receipts and Expenditures.

The following table shows, in detail, the receipts from fees, etc., all of which were paid into the treasury monthly, and quarterly reports thereof made to the Governor and Council, as required by Revised Laws, chapter 5, section 1: —

			1,848 10
			$92,725 42

The total expenses for salaries and incidentals during the eleven months were $39,455.21, from which it appears that the amount of money turned into the treasury of the Commonwealth exceeded the office expenses by the sum of $53,270.21.

For reasons stated in my report covering the year 1905, I renew my recommendation that the appropriation for the salary of the cashier be increased from $1,200 to $1,500 per annum.

Commissions.

The number of commissions issued during the eleven months was 2,503, of which 359 were without fee, and 88 became void by reason of the failure of the appointees to take out the commissions or to qualify thereunder. The different classes were as follows: —

The total number of certificates of incorporation issued during the eleven months was 1,475, or 66 less than during the year preceding. They are classified as follows: —

Trading corporations (under chapter 437, Acts of 1903),	1,198
Religious, charitable, social, educational, musical, athletic, etc., corporations (under Revised Laws, chapter 125, section 6),	214

Fraternal beneficiary corporations (under Revised Laws, chapter 119),	22
Churches (under Revised Laws, chapter 36, section 51),	20

Fire insurance company (under Revised Laws, chapter 118),	1
Canal company (under chapter 532, Acts of 1906),	1

The number of miscellaneous certificates filed and recorded was 5,718, — an increase of 461 in eleven months, compared with the full calendar year of 1905. Of these, 3,733 were certificates of condition of Massachusetts corporations (under section 51, chapter 110 of the Revised Laws, and section 45, chapter 437, Acts of 1903); 1,198 were articles of organization of trading corporations (under chapter 437, Acts of 1903); 214 were certificates of religious, charitable and other organizations (under chapter 125 of the Revised Laws); 126 were certificates of issue of capital stock of trading corporations (under chapter 437, Acts of 1903); and the others were distributed among 29 different classes.

The number of miscellaneous certificates filed and not recorded was 2,049, of which 1,934 were certificates of condition of foreign corporations (under chapter 126 of the Revised Laws and section 66 of chapter 437, Acts of 1903), and the others were divided among 10 other classes.

There were issued 15 certificates of change of name of corporations (under chapter 109 of the Revised Laws).

Returns were received of the dissolution of 51 corporations by the supreme judicial and superior courts.

Under the act relating to the incorporation of clubs, 3 certificates of incorporation which had been issued to clubs were declared void, upon evidence that the premises of the clubs were used for illegal purposes; and charters were refused in 10 cases.

Details of all these statistics appear in the Abstract of Certificates of Corporations, published by this office (Public Document, No. 10).

Limited partnership certificates to the number of 51 were filed and recorded.

I renew my recommendation of last year for legislation regulating the practice of changing the locations of certain incorporated clubs from the city or town where they were established at the time a certificate of incorporation was issued from this office to another city or town in the Commonwealth, after the certificate is issued.

I renew also my recommendation of last year for legislation extending the power of revoking charters of clubs in cases where any person or persons have been convicted of promoting or conducting illegal boxing or sparring exhibitions on the premises of or under the auspices of such incorporated clubs.

The reasons for these recommendations were stated in my last annual report, to which I respectfully refer.

Labels, Trade-marks, etc.

By chapter 72, section 7, Revised Laws, which relates to the adoption and registration of labels, trade-marks, stamps and forms of advertisement, the duty is placed upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth of receiving, filing and recording such labels, etc., and of issuing and recording certificates of record. Under this law, labels, trade-marks, stamps and forms of advertisement were received and certificates of record issued and recorded in 296 cases.

Insignia of Societies and Labor Unions.

Chapter 335, Acts of 1904, provides for the registration in this office of the insignia, ribbons, badges, rosettes, buttons and emblems of societies, associations and labor unions. The registrations received, which are 4 in number, have been included with the number of labels above given under section 7, chapter 72, Revised Laws.

Marks and Devices on Cans, etc.

By chapter 72, section 15, Revised Laws, which provides for the protection of owners of cans, bottles, boxes, siphons and fountains used in the sale of soda water, mineral and aerated waters, ale, beer, ginger ale or similar beverages, it is made the duty of the Secretary of the Commonwealth to receive and file descriptions of marks, devices, etc.; and under this law 10 such descriptions were received and filed. Under section 19 of said chapter 72, Revised Laws, protecting dealers and consumers against the unlawful use and destruction of milk cans, jugs, bottles or jars, 37 descriptions of marks, devices, etc., were received and filed.

Vital Statistics.

The returns of births and marriages from the various cities and towns for the year 1905 which were received in 1906 cover 75,022 births and 27,184 marriages, — an increase, as compared with the returns of 1904, of 8 births and 1,191 marriages.

Under the provisions of an act of 1903, chapter 305, there were received from Jan. 1 to Nov. 30, 1906, 50,911 certified copies of records of deaths. This number includes duplicates and still-births, which are eliminated in the tables of the registration report (Public Document, No. 1).

The medical examiners' returns for 1905 cover 3,280 cases, — an increase of 342, as compared with the returns for 1904.

The returns by the clerks of the courts of the decrees of divorce for 1905 number 1,822, being a decrease of 362, as compared with the returns for 1904.

All of these figures are compiled and presented fully in the sixty-fourth registration report (Public Document, No. 1).

Archives Division.

The number of visitors to the archives room during the eleven months was 2,864; the number of inquiries for military records, 595; the number of inquiries on historical and miscellaneous subjects, 41; number of certificates issued, 297; number of uncertified copies, 80. A small amount of remounting and rebinding has been done. Inquiries for military records of the Colonial and Revolutionary War periods show a consistent decline, as was to be expected when the official publication of the Revolutionary Records had reached such a stage that it could be freely consulted and cited in support of applications for membership in the various patriotic societies.

The publication of "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War" is now nearly completed. Volume XIV., covering all names, with accompanying service records, between SHA and STH, was distributed in the latter part of March, 1906. Volume XV., which contains all names between STI and TOZ, was completed in November, 1906, and will soon be ready for distribution. Work is now progressing on volume XVI., which will contain all names between TRA and WHE, and it should be completed by midsummer of the present year. All material remaining in the record index after volume XVI., which will be included in the last volume of the series (XVII.), has been fitted and verified for all individual records, and the work of checking back and reviewing all dates and entries is almost completed.

This office has received from the Governor of the State of New Jersey a request for the presentation to that State of certain muster rolls, five in number, of Captain John Mott's company, Third New Jersey Regiment, Revolutionary War. I have explained to him that these muster rolls are bound in a volume with many others (volume 48, Revolutionary Rolls Collection, pages 317, 318, 335, 336 and 338), and asked him if he would not be willing to accept certified copies thereof; expressing, at the same time, my appreciation of his desire to obtain possession of the original rolls, and stating that, if the proposition relative to copies was not acceptable, I would endeavor to obtain authority from the legislature to send the originals. His reply was that, inasmuch as there are but five rolls of the company in possession of this office, he would esteem it a special privilege if the originals could be transmitted to the office of the Adjutant-General of New Jersey.

In view of this request, and inasmuch as the rolls do not properly belong with those of Massachusetts, I respectfully ask the passage of an act expressly authorizing me to send the originals to the State of New Jersey, as requested by the Governor.

Registration Files.

The registration room received 3,906 visitors; there were issued 116 certificates of birth, 367 of marriages, 219 of deaths, making a total of 702.

There have been deposited in this room in connection with the vital statistics, under the provisions of chapter 470, Acts of 1902, thirteen volumes of manuscript copies of births, marriages and deaths in towns prior to 1850. The towns represented are: Beverly, Dalton, Douglas, Edgartown, Grafton, Lynn, Norton, Phillipston, Royalston, Sturbridge and Wenham.

Document Division.

There were printed under direction of this office, during the year, in the Public Document series (numbering 73 different reports), 198,100 volumes, — a decrease of 4,250 volumes. Of this number, 127,550 were handled and distributed in the Document Division, being supplied to members of the General Court, to cities and towns, public officers, libraries, and to the general public.

In addition to the Public Document series, there were printed and distributed 25,000 copies of the pamphlet edition of the laws; 12,000 copies of the Blue Book; 13,500 copies of the Manual for the General Court; 1,362 copies of the term reports (volumes 188, 189 and 190); 1,000 copies each of the Senate and House Journals; and there were also received and distributed 1,000 copies of volume XIV., Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War; 750 copies of volume XIII., Province Laws; 500 copies each of the Histories of the Third and Twentieth Regiments in the Civil War; 700 copies of the Franklin Memorial; 500 copies each of the Vital Records of Royalston, Norton, Edgartown, Douglas, Dalton, Wenham, Lynn (volume I.), Phillipston, Beverly (volume I.), Sturbridge and Grafton; and 5,000 copies of the Supplement to the Laws Relating to Elections, — making a grand total of 195,362 volumes which have passed through the document division during the year, — a decrease of 4,733 volumes from 1905.

One hundred and ninety-nine copies of the Bradford History were sold during the eleven months, January to November, inclusive, of 1906.

Care of Public Documents.

In my last annual report I called attention to the neglect on the part of town officers to keep public documents in condition for convenient use. Upon this part of my report the Legislature of 1906 passed a resolve creating a commission, consisting of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Commissioner of Public Records, and the State Librarian, to investigate the matter of the distribution, use and preservation of the various State publications, and report thereon to the present General Court such suggestions for legislation as they might deem expedient. This report has already been laid before the General Court.

State Printing.

The cost of printing Public Documents in 1906, including the Manual, Blue Book, Journals, etc., was $33,090.02. The most expensive single report in the Public Document series was that of the Savings Banks Commissioners, $5,325.72, — a decrease of about $543 over the amount for 1905. The report of the Board of Agriculture cost $5,308.30; the Railroad Commissioners, $4,765.18; and the Board of Health, $3,576.73. The least expensive report was that of the Board of Publication which cost only $10.11. The Blue Book, 12,000 copies, cost $8,843.73, as against $7,003.45 last year. The book contains 1,116 pages, and I think is the largest on record. The Manual cost $4,365.11; the Senate Journal, $1,542.89; the House Journal, $1,689.64. The Senate printing bill was $9,625.01, and the House printing $20,067.27, — an increase of $1,739 in the Senate printing bill and of $4,582 in the House printing bill. The cost of printing the official ballots, which included the work done for the voting machine in Pittsfield, also 98,800 ballots, corrected set, for the third Congressional district, was $9,262.43, — an increase of about $871 over that of 1905.

New Volume of Special Laws.

In my last annual report I recommended the publication of a new volume of the special laws, and upon that recommendation the Legislature passed a resolve, chapter 36, for the publication, under the direction of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, of the laws of this character passed in the years 1902 to 1905, inclusive. The book will be published within a few weeks.

Changes of Names.

The returns of 525 names changed in 1905, as decreed by the several probate courts, were received and filed, in compliance with the requirements of the Revised Laws, chapter 154, section 14, and published in the Blue Book.

Pedlers' Licenses.

There were issued to hawkers and pedlers during the eleven months, January to November, inclusive, of 1906, under the provisions of chapter 65, Revised Laws, as amended by chapter 531, Acts of 1902, chapter 432, Acts of 1903, chapters 204 and 377, Acts of 1905, and chapters 151 and 345, Acts of 1906, 1,548 licenses, — a decrease of 268 from the number during the same months of 1905. Of this number, 268 were for the State, 618 for counties, 631 for cities and towns, and 31 for cities and towns in which the applicant resided and paid taxes on a stock in trade.

Of free licenses issued, 315 were to soldiers and sailors who served in the civil war, — a decrease of 63, as compared with the same months of the previous year; 45 to soldiers and sailors who served in the war against Spain, — an increase of 4; and 66 to persons seventy years of age or upwards, — an increase of 16.

Five itinerant vendor's State licenses were issued.

The number of transfers of licenses was 159.

Coal and Coke Licenses.

The number of licenses issued for the sale of coal and coke between Jan. 1 and July 16, 1906, inclusive, under the provisions of chapter 484, Acts of 1903, was 355 in cities and 43 in towns, — a total of 398.

Under the provisions of chapter 484, Acts of 1903, as amended by chapter 434, Acts of 1906, there were issued between July 17 and Nov. 30, 1906, inclusive, 1,195 licenses in cities and 705 in towns, — a total of 1,900. These licenses cover all of the cities and 249 of the towns of the Commonwealth. The total number of licenses issued between Jan. 1 and Nov. 30, 1906, was 2,298.

The recommendation in my last annual report, that the Secretary of the Commonwealth be relieved from the judicial functions imposed upon him by section 3 of chapter 484 of the Acts of 1903, was favorably received by the Legislature of 1906. Under the new act (chapter 434 of 1906), 1,900 licenses have been issued, for each of which a fee of $1 has been received, which fee is now exacted for each year of the continuance of the license.

Returns under the "Lobby Act."

Under what is known as the "lobby act" (Revised Laws, chapter 11, sections 285 to 306, inclusive), 344 entries were made upon the docket of legislative counsel and agents, — an increase of 22, as compared with 1905. Returns were received at this office covering 321 of these entries. Of those received, it became the duty of the Secretary to transmit 29 to the Attorney-General for his information, 15 of them appearing to be irregular or defective, and the 14 others being received after the expiration of the time limit. The 23 cases of delinquency were reported to the Attorney-General, as required by law.

Elections.

All statements and statistics referring to elections appear, as required by law, in Public Document, No. 43 (Assessed Polls, Registered Voters, etc.), together with recommendations in relation thereto. A report of the number of returns under the corrupt-practices act, so called, will be found in the same document.

Proclamations.

The usual Thanksgiving and Arbor Day proclamations were printed and distributed under the direction of this office. Of the Thanksgiving proclamation, about 2,600 were sent by mail to churches and about 100 to institutions; and of the Arbor Day proclamation, 1,050 were distributed by mail. There were also 3,500 Lincoln Day proclamations sent by mail to churches, institutions, city and town clerks and superintendents of schools.

Pardons, Requisitions, etc.

The number of pardons made out and issued during the eleven months was 25; requisitions upon other States, 49; warrants issued upon requisitions from other States, 15; transfers from prisons, etc., to hospitals, 50; permits for release from State Prison on parole, 2.

Naturalization Returns.

Under provisions of the Revised Laws, chapter 166, section 17, returns were received of the naturalization of 4,477 persons before the various courts of the Commonwealth during the year 1905, — a decrease of 1,417, as compared with the returns for 1904. These returns were indexed and bound in convenient form for reference, as required by law.

Miscellaneous.

As required by law, the return of the Surveyor-General of Lumber of the various kinds and quantities of lumber surveyed and the amount of fees received by him and his deputies in the year 1905 was received and filed Jan. 17, 1906.

The Public Debt.

The bonded debt of the Commonwealth is divided into two classes: the direct debt, which is an obligation incurred for the benefit of the entire Commonwealth; and the contingent debt, which, while a direct obligation of the Commonwealth, has been incurred for the benefit of 41 cities and towns in the vicinity of and including Boston, comprising the metropolitan districts, and of certain municipalities for the construction of armories. This is distinct from the direct debt of the Commonwealth, and imposes no direct burden on the State as a whole, for the payment of the bonds issued therefor is secured by sinking funds provided for by annual assessments on the cities and towns benefited.

Direct Debt.

The gross direct funded debt, Dec. 1, 1906, was	$32,569,750 00
an increase for eleven months of $1,000,000. (Statement No. 1, p. 17.)
The sinking funds for the same, Dec. 1, 1906, amounted to . .	18,163,977 30 an increase for eleven months of $809,992.57.
The net direct debt, Dec. 1, 1906, was	$14,405,772 70
an increase for eleven months of $190,007.43.

Contingent Debt.

The gross contingent debt, Dec. 1, 1906, was	$68,968,412 00
an increase during the eleven months of $2,338,000. (Statement No. 2, p. 18.)
The sinking funds established for the payment of the same, Dec. 1, 1906, amounted to	8,452,528 08 an increase during the eleven months of $1,123,879.13.
The net contingent debt, Dec. 1, 1906, was	$60,515,883 92
an increase during the eleven months of $1,214,120.87.

The average rate of interest paid by the Commonwealth on the entire bonded debt was 3.33 per cent.

The average rate of income received from the sinking funds established for the payment of the debt was 3.50 per cent.

Sinking Funds.

During the year the sinking funds for the payment of the direct bonded debt of the Commonwealth have increased as follows: —

Appropriation by taxation, ...	$320,476 78
Earnings of the funds, ...	425,443 76
Spanish war claim, premiums, etc., ...	64,072 03
	$809,992 57

The sinking funds established for the payment of the contingent debt have increased as follows: —

Assessments on districts, ...	$802,924 55
Earnings of the funds, ...	253,713 11
Premiums, etc., ...	67,241 47
	$1,123,879 13

The sinking fund requirements for the payment of the direct debt necessitates appropriations in 1907 as follows: —

Harbor improvement loan sinking fund,	$3,875 00
Medfield Insane Asylum loan sinking fund,	28,880 00
Metropolitan parks loan sinking fund, series two (one-half),	29,200 00
Prisons and hospitals loan sinking fund,	68,016 00
State highway loan sinking fund,	86,501 00
State House loan sinking fund,	92,985 00
War loan sinking fund,	20,693 00
	$330,150 00
Amount required for serial bonds due April 1, 1907,	20,000 00
	$350,150 00

These requirements are found by computing the present sinking funds increased by their earnings compounded at 3 per cent. annually up to the maturity of the loan, and providing for the difference between that result and the total debt by annual assessments.

No requirement is made for the abolition of grade crossings sinking fund, because of the fact that the amount in that sinking fund at the present time, $6,870,647.29, at the maturity of the loans now issued will more than provide for their payment; but, as there have been $5,000,000 additional authorized but not yet issued, the present amount in that sinking fund will help to provide for the payment of such future issues.

Bonds authorized.

The following issues of bonds have been authorized, but the bonds therefor have not been issued as yet, but will be during 1907.

Abolition of grade crossings (annually up to $5,000,000),	$500,000 00
Armory,	27,000 00
Court House, Suffolk County, not exceeding	800,000 00
Massachusetts Hospital for Epileptics, not exceeding	80,000 00
Medfield Insane Asylum,	22,000 00
Metropolitan parks,	400,000 00
Metropolitan parks, series two,	300,000 00
Metropolitan sewer, south system,	1,000,000 00
Prisons and hospitals,	345,000 00
State highway, not exceeding	350,000 00
	$3,824,000 00

The following bonds were sold June 28, 1906, but have not been issued. These are to be delivered on or before Jan. 10, 1907.

Armory loan (Holyoke),	$18,000 00
Charles River basin loan,	85,000 00
Metropolitan parks loan,	1,000 00
Metropolitan sewerage loan, south system,	21,000 00
Metropolitan water loan,	307,000 00
State highway loan,	14,000 00
Total,	$446,000 00

Massachusetts Bonds in Sinking Funds.

The change in market conditions has enabled the department to purchase for the sinking funds bonds issued by the Commonwealth, at a considerable profit. During the year there have been purchased bonds of the face value of $951,000. When these were issued by the State a premium was received, so that $997,663.55 was obtained. They have been purchased for the sinking funds for $935,879.18, or $61,784.34 less than the Commonwealth received.

The total amount of Massachusetts bonds now in the various sinking funds of the Commonwealth is $4,324,662.

Total Taxable Property.

The total taxable property of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in accordance with the last published statement of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Tax Commissioner, is as follows: —

Taxable real estate,	$2,668,110,610 00
Taxable personal estate,	1,702,851,857 00
Total taxable property,	$4,370,962,467 00

Temporary Loans.

To pay the running expenses of the Commonwealth and metropolitan districts, it is necessary to borrow money from time to time and give the notes of the Commonwealth therefor.

During the past year the Commonwealth has been compelled to borrow from various sources and pay interest at rates varying from 4 to 5¼ per cent. per annum. (Statement No. 3, p. 19.)

The total borrowed this year for temporary purposes was $4,245,000, at an average rate of 4.30 per cent. per annum; as against $4,500,000 borrowed the previous year, at an average rate of 2.71 per cent.

The total sum borrowed, together with interest, amounting to $83,833.77, has been paid.

Monthly Statement.

The treasury department has continued to issue each month a statement of receipts and payments, in order that those interested might be able to have full information in regard to the conduct of the people's finances.

Metropolitan Districts.

On August 1 this department again issued a statement of the sinking funds, interest and assessments of the metropolitan districts, in order that the citizens of the cities and towns who pay the assessments might be able to determine in detail the method of computing the annual assessments upon each. These should be preserved, in order that those desiring to make the computations in the future may be able to understand in detail the methods of computation and adjustments.

As the annual assessments received from the various cities and towns are not paid until November 15, the Commonwealth is compelled to advance to the districts certain amounts required for the interest and maintenance. The amount paid for such advances is collected from the cities and towns in the district.

Bank Depositaries.

At the present time the funds of the Commonwealth are deposited in 175 banks and trust companies. The list is approved by the Governor and Council quarterly, and the Commonwealth has suffered no financial loss through its depositaries during the past year.

With the practical completion of the metropolitan systems the deposits in the various banks have been necessarily materially decreased; and, as it now becomes necessary to advance money on account of the interest on bonds that have been issued for the metropolitan districts, the Commonwealth has become a considerable borrower, instead of a large depositor; and, while the balances are distributed throughout the State depositaries as evenly as can be done consistently with carrying on the large business of the Commonwealth, the large number of depositaries necessarily makes the amount which each can receive comparatively small.

Exemption of State Bonds from Taxation.

On the recommendation of the Treasurer an act was passed by the last Legislature, making bonds hereafter issued by the Commonwealth exempt from local taxation; and, while there has been but one sale of State bonds under this provision, the high rates prevailing in the money market prevented as advantageous prices being received as would have been received under normal conditions; but the best estimates obtainable seem to show that the exemption of State bonds from taxation has made a difference of about $\frac{1}{4}$ of 1 per cent. on the interest basis. This comparison was made with bonds of the city of Boston sold about the same time. This new issue of bonds has been distributed in a large measure throughout the Commonwealth, and among 182 holders, while there are but 4 holders of these bonds holding $7,000 outside of the State, as against 70 per cent. last year.

Of the total amount of $2,216,000 issued this year of registered bonds, the holdings are as follows: —

182 individual holders in Massachusetts own	$1,940,000 00
4 holders outside of Massachusetts own	7,000 00
Insurance companies,	150,000 00
Savings banks,	50,000 00
Brokers,	40,000 00
Corporations,	20,000 00
Trust companies,	9,000 00

There are 126 individual holders of $5,000 or under.

Of $84,520,162 previously issued, $58,875,500 were held outside the Commonwealth.

Collateral Legacy Tax.

The collateral legacy tax has been in operation since 1891. It has been found on investigation that more aggressive methods must be adopted for enforcing the payment of the tax. The Legislature of the past year made a special appropriation for more careful investigation by this department among the records of the probate courts. A personal investigation has been made of all cases recorded here in which estates might be taxable but had not paid a tax up to the present time, and the results have warranted the special examination; for to December 1 there has been collected, on account of back legacy taxes which might have escaped unless a special examination had been made, $54,095.16 and interest of $11,796.81, making a total of $65,891.97.

While theoretically the treasury department only receives the tax when the same has been determined by the probate court and is paid in by the executor or administrator, experience seems to show that hereafter provision must be made for the following up of executors and administrators in their dealings with the probate court. In many cases estates are only partially administered, and, unless there are continual examinations, there will be many estates in which the executors will not be called upon to pay the tax.

The law should also be changed so that the Treasurer may have the power and right to fix the value of property, for the purpose of taxation, separate and distinct from the appraisal of the probate court, for the purpose of administration. There should also be provision made so that the registers of the probate courts, on making the copy of the will for the executor as is now required by law, should also make a copy and file in the treasury department, subject to the same provisions as now pertain to the filing of inventories.

This department has issued during the past year a brochure on the collateral legacy and succession tax, giving the general law and amendments, decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court and the opinions of the Attorney-General applicable thereto, in order to assist those coming under its provisions. This has been and is for free distribution, in order that full information may be given those who wish.

The examination of the records in all the counties has not as yet been completed, but is being pushed as rapidly as is consistent with the present force.

There has been received during the financial year ending Nov. 30, 1906 (eleven months), on account of the collateral legacy and succession tax, provided for by chapter 15 of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, after deducting the amount of certain refundments to correct errors in returns of executors and others, a net sum of $712,720.18, and for interest a further net sum of $19,311.33, making the total net revenue derived from this source $732,031.51.

The expenses of collection, including the amounts allowed by the court for compensation of special appraisers, — one-half of whose compensation is payable by this department, — and the salary of the legacy tax clerk, amounted to $2,950.62.

The following table shows the net receipts and expenses of collection, by years, since the original legacy tax statute (1891, chapter 425) became operative: —

Weights and Measures.

The general public possesses little knowledge of scales and weights, or the fraudulent practices resorted to by dealers to give short weight or measure.

While the Treasurer and Receiver-General is officially the sealer of weights and measures, and has the appointment and supervision of a deputy, there is need of greater attention being given to the oversight of the weights and measures used throughout the Commonwealth, for the protection of the public.

The national government has recently enacted a law regulating the quality of the food, and the State should see that the public are protected from imposition as to the quantity.

The deputy sealer this year has given considerable time and attention to the inspection of the work of the local sealers of weights and measures. His inspections show that this work has not by any means kept pace with the demands occasioned by the customs of trade for the protection of the purchasing public, who, on account of the perfunctory manner in which many of the local officials act, are to a large extent at the mercy of unscrupulous dealers. Many inspections made in various parts of the State, of goods offered for sale in packages or cartons sold as containing a stated net weight, without reweighing at the time of sale, show that in a large number of instances the goods weighed less than the alleged amount, and in some cases the shortage equaled 25 per cent.; and these were not among small dealers, but among large business houses, and pertain especially to groceries. It also appeared that in many cities little or no attention was being given to the supervision of the sale of coal, as required by chapter 57 of the Revised Laws.

Present legislation does not seem sufficient to properly prosecute those persons who are defrauding the public; the method of appointment and short tenure of office provided for the local sealers, appointments being made annually; and the method of remuneration for the officer, in the main being by collection of fees, the amounts of which are insufficient, — make proper supervision difficult.

I am of the opinion that the Commonwealth should reorganize the department of weights and measures, and place it in a position to be more aggressive and effective; making it a separate department, with the sealer of weights and measures appointed by His Excellency the Governor, and with a sufficient number of deputies to protect the people all over the State from the impositions that are now practised.

Massachusetts School Fund.

This year a final appropriation of practically $20,000 will complete the fund of $5,000,000, the income of which is annually paid over to towns for the support of public schools.

This fund was started in 1834, and in that year our Legislature provided "that all moneys in the treasury derived from the sale of lands in the State of Maine and from all claims of the State on the government of the United States for military services and not otherwise appropriated, together with 50 per cent. of all moneys thereafter to be received from the sales of wild land in Maine, shall be appropriated to constitute a permanent fund for the aid and encouragement of common schools, provided that said fund shall not exceed $1,000,000." This limitation was afterwards increased, and placed at $5,000,000, which has been raised by grants of various amounts and appropriations by taxation of $100,000 annually since 1894. This present year the income has amounted to $224,468.31, which will be distributed on January 25 to the towns throughout the Commonwealth entitled to receive it.

Recommendations.

I would make the following recommendations: —

1. That the Boston Elevated Railway compensation tax be payable November 15, instead of November 30, so that it may be distributed the same fiscal year it is received.

2. That savings banks be allowed to deduct their holdings of future issues of Massachusetts bonds from the deposits on which they pay a tax.

3. That the Board of Appeal be authorized to abate corporation taxes on recommendation of the Tax Commissioner, with the approval of the Attorney-General.

4. That payments for water sold the cities and towns outside the metropolitan district be credited to the metropolitan water loan sinking fund, instead of being distributed.

For Collateral Legacy Tax.

5. (a) That the Treasurer be given power to fix the value of property for the purpose of assessing the collateral legacy tax, subject to the right of appeal.

(b) That in testate estates a copy of the will be filed in this department by the register of probate.

(c) That a copy of the final account be filed here by the executor or administrator before the final account is allowed.

(d) That this department be allowed to rebate the additional tax which is now collected when the tax is payable from the residue of the estate.

For Weights and Measures.

6. (a) To establish a more severe penalty for the giving of short weights or measures.

(b) The reorganization of this department in such manner as to provide for a more strict enforcement of the laws.

(c) To change the tenure of office of the local sealer of weights and measures in cities, and make the appointments of the same subject to the provisions of the civil service.

(d) To provide that all seals in use by sealers of weights and measures shall be of uniform type, and subject to the approval of this department.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. CHAPIN,
Treasurer and Receiver-General.

showing that the present methods of indirect taxation are producing results in some degree relative to the increase in population and wealth. The estimate as to the foreign railway companies' tax was based upon the expected tax from the Mexican Central Railroad Company, which was then in litigation. The courts determined the question in favor of the company, which contended that it was taxable under the business corporation act, instead of chapter 14, section 52, of the Revised Laws. This company's tax will this year be found in the corporation tax, under business corporations.

Revenue and Expenses for 1906.

Section 24 of chapter 6 of the Revised Laws requires that the Auditor's report shall state whether or not the ordinary expenses of the year have exceeded the income, and show the amount of the balance. In compliance with this provision of law I have to say that —

The actual running expenses of the State government for 1906 were		$9,791,490 54
The income or revenue applicable thereto was .	$6,648,186 68

		8,483,559 83

The cash on hand at the commencement of the year is included in the amount of revenue, in compliance with a provision of law requiring this to be done.

The tables which follow show in summary form, somewhat extended, the revenue and expenses. Table 1 shows the revenue. Table 2 shows the actual expenses, whether paid or unpaid at the close of the year. For purposes of comparison, figures for the past five years are given.

The Auditor's estimates cover only such appropriations as are required by existing laws, and he does not attempt to forecast the action of the Legislature in the matter of special appropriations. The General Court of 1906 appropriated for purposes not included in the Auditor's estimates about $750,000. It will readily be seen that to keep the State tax at $3,500,000, the amount taxed in 1906, the special appropriations can only slightly exceed $500,000.

Legislation Suggested.

Amendments to Chapter 211, Acts of 1905.

I respectfully suggest that section 3 of chapter 211 of the Acts of 1905 be amended by striking out, from the first line of said section, the word "December," leaving it optional to the Auditor to examine annually, but at such time as he may select. Preparation of the various reports which the Auditor must submit to the Legislature on the first Wednesday in January makes it difficult to make the thorough examination which is contemplated in the month of December, and for obvious reasons the date should be left indefinite.

Also, that section 4 of said chapter be amended by making the date of submission of the abstract of the Auditor's report the second instead of the first Wednesday in January.

Additional Clerical Assistance.

To carry out certain plans which I believe will increase the efficiency of this department, I suggest that section 14 of chapter 6 of the Revised Laws and amendments thereto be further amended by increasing the amount provided for additional clerical assistance in the sum of $1,500.

Sinking Funds.

In making the annual examination of the books, accounts and vouchers of the Treasurer and Receiver-General I have given particular attention to the accounts of the sinking funds; and, while I am not in full accord with the present methods of handling these funds, I have found that they are all in strong condition, and in many cases hold amounts largely in excess of what I consider legal requirements. One fund in particular, however, the abolition of grade crossings loan sinking fund, holds an amount very largely in excess of any possible requirement. In his annual report for the year 1905 the Treasurer and Receiver-General stated that the amount then in that sinking fund would at the maturity of the loans issued amount to about $11,968,430.11, while the total amount of the loans outstanding was $8,300,000. This fund at the close of the fiscal year, Nov. 30, 1906, amounted to $6,870,647.29. The amount necessary to retire the outstanding loans of $8,300,000 at maturity, figured upon a 3 per cent. basis, is $4,842,500, showing that this fund holds an excess above possible requirement of $2,028,147.29.

Section 70 of chapter 6 of the Revised Laws reads as follows:

accumulations of a sinking fund of the Commonwealth it to extinguish at maturity the indebtedness for which blished, its subsequent accumulations may be added by er to any sinking fund which is not sufficient to meet dness for which it was established." If the word "may" on quoted is to be interpreted "shall," the excess in this nd should be distributed without further legislation;
n in the matter is optional with the treasurer, I suggest ency of further legislation to require the distribution of
, in order that unnecessary taxation may be avoided.
to me that failure to distribute this large amount among inking funds necessarily increases the annual contribumade to these funds, and I therefore respectfully call ion to the existing condition.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY E. TURNER,
Auditor.

Capital Cases.

Indictments for murder pending at the date of the last annual report have been disposed of as follows: —

Charles L. Tucker, indicted in Middlesex County, June, 1904, for the murder of Mabel Page, at Weston, March 31, 1904. He was arraigned June 16, 1904, and pleaded not guilty. James H. Vahey, Esq., and Charles H. Innes, Esq., were assigned by the court as counsel for the defendant. Trial, conducted for the Commonwealth by the Attorney-General, with District Attorney George A. Sanderson and Assistant District Attorney Hugh Bancroft, was entered upon Jan. 2, 1905, before Sherman and Sheldon, JJ. A verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was returned by the jury. A motion for a new trial was heard and overruled by the trial court. The defendant's exceptions were likewise overruled by the Supreme Judicial Court. On Jan. 27, 1906, the defendant was sentenced to be electrocuted, which sentence was carried out June 12, 1906.

John Wainwright, indicted in Worcester County, January, 1905, for the murder of Ada E. Lindley, at Worcester, Dec. 4, 1904. He was arraigned Jan. 27, 1905, and pleaded not guilty. John R. Thayer, Esq., and J. H. Meagher, Esq., were assigned by the court as counsel for the defendant. In June, 1905, the defendant was tried by a jury before Sherman, J. The result was a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. On Jan. 15, 1906, the defendant was sentenced to State Prison for life. The case was in charge of District Attorney George S. Taft.

John Schidlofski, alias John Cline, indicted in Middlesex County, June, 1905, for the murder of Marciana Schidlofski, at Belmont, on July 12, 1905. He was arraigned Sept. 8, 1905, and pleaded not guilty. Henry H. Winslow, Esq., and Philip H. Sullivan, Esq., were assigned by the court as counsel for the defendant. In March, 1906, the defendant was tried by a jury before Lawton and Holmes, JJ. The result was a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. On April 7, 1906, the defendant was sentenced to be electrocuted, which sentence was carried out July 9, 1906. The case was in charge of District Attorney George A. Sanderson.

Michael Dwyer, indicted in Essex County, September, 1905, for the murder of James Webb, at Lawrence, July 29, 1905. He was arraigned June 26, 1906, and pleaded guilty of manslaughter. This plea was accepted by the Commonwealth, and the defendant was thereupon sentenced to not less than fifteen nor more than twenty years in State Prison. John P. Sweeney, Esq., and John P. S. Mahoney, Esq., were assigned by the court as counsel for the defendant. The case was in charge of District Attorney W. Scott Peters.

Indictments for murder found since the date of the last annual report have been disposed of as follows: —

Lawrence Cygless, indicted in Middlesex County, March, 1906, for the murder of Mary Cygless, at Lowell, Jan. 4, 1906. He was arraigned March 21, 1906, and pleaded not guilty. John J. Harvey, Esq., and Dennis J. Murphy, Esq., were assigned by the court as counsel for the defendant. On June 18, 1906, the defendant retracted his plea of not guilty, and pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree. This plea was accepted by the Commonwealth, and the defendant was thereupon sentenced to State Prison for life. The case was in charge of District Attorney George A. Sanderson.

The following indictments for murder are now pending: —

Edgar Weston Meikle, indicted in Essex County, September, 1906, for the murder of Charles C. G. Meikle, at Lynn, on Nov. 7, 1905. He was arraigned Oct. 2, 1906, and pleaded not guilty. No further action has been taken in this case. The case is in charge of District Attorney W. Scott Peters.

Alexander McEwan, indicted in Suffolk County, November, 1906, for the murder of Annie E. McEwan, at Boston, Oct. 15, 1906. The defendant has not yet been arraigned. The case is in charge of District Attorney John B. Moran.

Corporate Holdings of Stock.

A recess committee of the Legislature of 1905 was appointed to consider, among other things, the question of holdings of stock of domestic by foreign corporations, and to report such changes or modifications of the law as the committee might deem advisable. It held many hearings, and reported to the Legislature of 1906.

Attorney-General Parker, in his last annual report, said: —

I have not deemed it expedient to take any action upon the state of facts apparently existing, under the information furnished by the officers of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, in response to inquiries by the Railroad Commission, since I deem it advisable, if not necessary, to await any action that the Legislature may see fit to take, as such action might modify or repeal existing laws, or define a policy inconsistent with that now manifest in our statutes. If the existent policy of the law be adhered to, I recommend legislation that will render its enforcement more effectual and immediate than that attainable under present statutory provisions; and I further suggest such enactments as will remove some possible questions of conflict in law with a foreign State.

The situation being unchanged when I took office, I therefore thought it proper to await the action of the Legislature before bringing legal proceedings in the matter.

In June the Legislature submitted to me a bill upon the subject, with specific questions upon its provisions, and with a further request that, if the desired end could not in my opinion be obtained by the bill so drawn, I should furnish such a bill as would in my judgment remove the apparent difficulties. Accordingly, a bill was drawn and submitted by me, but was thought too drastic, and after consideration all measures in reference thereto were rejected by the Legislature.

Prior to the adjournment of the Legislature the Consolidated Railway Company of Connecticut had already placed under other control the stock of the Massachusetts street railways held by it, and the new phase of the situation so presented required careful consideration of fact and law. Upon the completion of my examination I was of opinion that this divestment had not so far changed the situation as to make it unnecessary to begin legal proceedings. I therefore filed in the Supreme Judicial Court an information in the nature of quo warranto against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company for violation of section 57 of part 2 of chapter 463 of the Acts of the year 1906, in which it is provided that a railroad corporation, unless authorized by the General Court or by the provisions of other sections of the law, shall not directly or indirectly subscribe for, take or hold the stock or bonds of or guarantee the bonds or dividends of any other corporation, and alleging that the holding of said stock and bonds and the guaranteeing of said bonds and dividends by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company was not authorized by law; also an information in equity against the same corporation, under chapter 372 of the Acts of the year 1906, which act was drafted by me, and in which it is provided that, upon an information in equity in the name of the Attorney-General at the relation of the Commissioner of Corporations, the Supreme Judicial Court shall have power to restrain by injunction any corporation from assuming or exercising any franchise or privilege or transacting any kind of business not authorized by the charter of such corporation and the laws of this Commonwealth; and two bills in equity, one against the Worcester & Webster Street Railway Company and the other against the Webster & Dudley Street Railway Company, under the provisions of section 58, part 3 of chapter 463 of the Acts of the year 1906, which provides that if a foreign corporation which owns or controls a majority of the capital stock of a domestic street railway company issues stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness based upon or secured by the property, franchise or stock of such domestic company, unless such issue is authorized by the law of this Commonwealth, the Supreme Judicial Court shall have jurisdiction in equity in its discretion to dissolve such domestic company. These proceedings are now pending in the Supreme Judicial Court, and an early hearing will be had.

Unclaimed Deposits in Savings Banks.

It is provided by section 55 of chapter 113 of the Revised Laws that the probate court or other court shall, upon application of the Attorney-General, after public notice, order and decree that all amounts of money deposited with a savings bank by authority of any of said courts or justice thereof, which shall remain unclaimed for more than five years from the date of such deposit, with the increase and proceeds thereof, shall be paid to the Treasurer and Receiver-

General, to be held and used by him according to law, subject to be repaid to the person entitled thereto, with interest at the rate of 3 per cent. Under this statute proceedings have been begun and decrees have been entered in several cases in Middlesex County, ordering payment of such deposits to the Treasurer and Receiver-General. There are, I am informed, other sums of money on deposit in savings banks by order of the probate and other courts, for heirs of estates and others, whose whereabouts are unknown; and I suggest that a similar law should be enacted respecting such deposits, and that upon like proceedings they may be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth, subject to repayment if proper claim is made.

There was also, in 1902, the date of the last report of the Board of Savings Banks Commissioners relating thereto, the sum of $566,195.37, representing 1,804 accounts, deposited in savings banks to the credit of depositors who had not made a deposit on said accounts or withdrawn their accounts or any part thereof or the interest for more than twenty years. I would suggest a law that such unclaimed deposits, where the depositor cannot be found, shall be paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth, subject to be repaid to the person having and establishing a lawful claim thereto.

Public Administrators.

Section 12 of chapter 138 of the Revised Laws provides that when an estate has been fully administered by a public administrator he shall deposit the balance of such estate remaining in his hands with the Treasurer and Receiver-General, who shall receive and hold it for the benefit of those who may have lawful claims.

I discovered during the past year that several thousand dollars which should have been paid to the Treasurer, as aforesaid, had been paid to persons by virtue of powers of attorney and affidavits purporting to be signed by heirs, which powers of attorney and affidavits, upon examination, were found to be fictitious. Proceedings have been instituted, and a large part of the sums so paid is likely to be recovered.

I suggest that hereafter the Treasurer and Receiver-General be made a party to all petitions for administration by a public administrator, and be given due notice of all subsequent proceedings therein.

Spanish War Claims.

The work of the preparation and presentation of the Spanish war claims is proceeding under arrangement made by my predecessor with special counsel, and the sum of $34,920.84 has been paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth. I am assured by such counsel that other payments will shortly be made.

Cases in the Supreme Court of the United States.

The case of Arthur E. Appleyard, appellant, against the Commonwealth, being an appeal from the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts to the Supreme Court of the United States, upon the question of extradition to the State of New York, was decided in favor of the Commonwealth Dec. 3, 1906. Appleyard has submitted himself to the jurisdiction of the New York courts, and been admitted to bail there.

The case of the Interstate Consolidated Street Railway Company against the Commonwealth, pending in the Supreme Court of the United States upon a writ of error to the Superior Court of Bristol County, was ready for argument early this month; but, owing to sickness of counsel for the plaintiff in error, postponement was necessary. It involves the constitutionality of Revised Laws, chapter 112, section 72, being the statute relative to half fare for school children upon street railways.

The case of Abe Strauss, plaintiff in error, against the Commonwealth, pending in the Supreme Court of the United States on writ of error to the Superior Court of Plymouth County, is not likely to be reached for argument until the October term, 1907.

Department of the Attorney-General.

The work of the department of the Attorney-General is steadily increasing. There have been tried and settled in the Supreme Judicial Court and in the Superior Court 171 cases, exclusive of corporation and probate cases; 852 informations have been brought in the Supreme Judicial Court against foreign and domestic corporations to collect taxes and to compel the filing of returns; and more than $15,000 has been collected through the courts and paid to the Treasurer and Receiver-General from various corporations in penalties for failure to file returns as prescribed by statute. The Attorney-General has appeared for the Treasurer and Receiver-General in 404 cases in the several probate courts of the Commonwealth arising in connection with the determination and collection of the collateral legacy and succession tax.

One written opinion was submitted to the Senate and three written opinions to the House of Representatives, during the legislative session of 1906; and the Attorney-General or his assistants have appeared before the committee on ways and means, the joint committee on the judiciary, a special recess committee on taxation and other committees, for the purpose of advising such committees upon the legal effect of proposed legislation pending before them; also before the House committee on rules, who were ordered to investigate charges of alleged bribery. Opinions in writing were also requested by the committee on ways and means, the committee on mercantile affairs and the committee on bills in the third reading, and the same were duly transmitted thereto.

No satisfactory record can be kept of consultations with State officers and boards, except in cases in which opinions in writing are required, of which there were 122 in the year 1906. It has become more and more the practice of officials in all branches of the government of the Commonwealth to consult with this department. Many such consultations are held daily, and much of the time of the Attorney-General and of his assistants has been so occupied.

The Attorney-General is authorized by chapter 18 of the Resolves of 1906 to collect and publish a second volume of the opinions of the Attorneys-General. This work is in process of preparation, but, owing to the increased cost of printing, another appropriation will doubtless be necessary if a satisfactory number of copies is to be printed.

To fill the vacancies existing in the department of the Attorney-General when I assumed office, I have appointed Mr. W. Perley Hall of Fitchburg, and Mr. James F. Curtis of Boston, as Assistant Attorneys-General. Mr. Frederic B. Greenhalge and Mr. Fred T. Field, Assistant Attorneys-General, and Mr. Andrew Marshall, Law Clerk, have been reappointed.

Annexed to this report are the principal opinions submitted during the current year.

Respectfully submitted,

DANA MALONE,
Attorney-General.

OPINIONS.

Public Officer — Resignation — Acceptance — Governor — Executive Council.

The resignation of a public officer, appointed, with the advice and consent of the Council, by the Governor, becomes effective upon acceptance by the Governor without further action thereon by the Executive Council.

JAN. 24, 1906.

SIR: — I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 18th, in which you inform me that at a meeting of the Executive Council, held January 17, —

It was voted that the opinion of the Attorney-General be asked as to whether action by the Executive Council is necessary upon the matter of the acceptance of the resignation of an official appointed by His Excellency the Governor and confirmed by the Executive Council.

That such officer has the absolute right of resignation, subject to the acceptance thereof by the proper authority, appears to be the prevailing doctrine in the United States, and the right of resignation is recognized in the statutes and also in practice. In my opinion it is the law in this Commonwealth that an appointive officer may resign his office, and that such resignation becomes effective upon its acceptance by the appointing power. That being the law, it remains to be determined whether or not the Executive himself is the appointing power, or whether the power of appointment created by statute in any particular case is shared by the Executive Council.

The Constitution of the Commonwealth defines the scope and the duty of the Council as follows (chapter II., section III., article I.): —

There shall be a council for advising the governor in the executive part of the government, . . . and the governor, with the said councillors, or five of them at least, shall and may, from time to time, hold and keep a council, for the ordering and directing the affairs of the commonwealth, according to the laws of the land.

The power of the Governor to appoint is mentioned in the Constitution only in connection with judicial officers, as enumerated in chapter II., section I., article IX., which says that such officers "shall be nominated and appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the council." The appointive power has, however, been repeatedly vested in the Governor by the Legislature.

In the case of removals from office, it seems that an officer appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council, cannot be removed by the Executive alone, and that the consent of the Council is equally necessary for such action upon the part of the Executive. The removal of a public officer, however, is clearly to be distinguished from his voluntary resignation; and if he possesses an absolute right to resign, subject to acceptance by the appointing power, the resignation becomes effective upon such acceptance, without action on the part of any official body whose approval may be required either for appointment or removal.

It is clear that the Governor is the appointing power, and a resignation tendered to and to be accepted by him becomes effective upon such acceptance, without any action upon the part of the Council; and that the Constitution does not contemplate, and probably does not authorize, any action by the Council beyond its approval of an appointment or concurrence in a removal made by the Executive.

I am therefore of opinion that no action by the Executive Council is necessary upon the matter of the acceptance of the resignation of an official appointed by His Excellency the Governor and confirmed by the Executive Council.

I am, with great respect, very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

District, Police and Municipal Courts — Justices and Clerks — Salaries — Readjustment — County Treasurer — Franklin County.

St. 1904, c. 453, which established the salaries of the justices, clerks and assistant clerks of certain district, police and municipal courts upon a basis of population, expressly excepted from such classification the justices and clerks of the district courts of Franklin County, and such exception was not affected by St. 1905, c. 339, providing for a readjustment of such salaries by the county treasurers of the several counties, after the taking of the decennial census of the year 1905.

It follows, therefore, that the treasurer of the county of Franklin is not authorized to readjust the salaries of the officers of the district courts of such county upon any basis of population.

JAN. 30, 1906.

CHARLES R. PRESCOTT, Esq., Controller of County Accounts.

DEAR SIR: — I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 19th, enclosing a letter from the treasurer of Franklin County, in which he states that he has readjusted the salaries of the officers of the district courts of that county, and submits the question whether his action as stated will meet with your approval. You ask my opinion as to his duties under St. 1905, c. 339, § 1, taken in connection with St. 1904, c. 453.

St. 1904, c. 453, was an act to establish the salaries of the justices, clerks and assistant clerks of certain police, district and municipal courts. By section 1 the district, police and municipal courts, other than the municipal court of the city of Boston, were divided into ten classes, according to population, for the purpose of determining the salaries of the officers thereof, and in each case the districts affected were included under the appropriate class, as, for instance, Class G, which is as follows: —

Courts whose judicial districts have a population of from twenty thousand to thirty thousand, to wit, the first district court of southern Worcester, the district court of central Berkshire, the district court of northern Berkshire, the first district court of northern Worcester, the fourth district court of Bristol, the second district court of eastern Worcester, the district court of western Worcester, the district court of western Norfolk and the first district court of southern Middlesex; salaries: — Justice, fifteen hundred dollars; clerk, nine hundred dollars.

Section 2 of this act is as follows: —

The justices and clerks of the district courts in the county of Franklin shall receive from said county annual salaries as follows: — The justice of the district court of Franklin, fifteen hundred dollars; the clerk, nine hundred dollars; the justice of the district court of eastern Franklin, eight hundred dollars; the clerk, four hundred and eighty dollars.

The justice and clerk of the district court of eastern Hampshire shall receive from the county of Hampshire annual salaries as follows: — The justice, one thousand dollars; the clerk, six hundred dollars.

It appears, therefore, that the justices and clerks of the district courts in the county of Franklin, as well as the justice and clerk of the district court of eastern Hampshire, were excepted from the classification established by section 1, and were not affected by its provisions with regard to population.

St. 1905, c. 339, § 1, provides for a readjustment of salaries after the taking of the decennial census of the year 1905, "so as to correspond with the schedule of salaries provided for by chapter four hundred and fifty-three of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and four." This readjustment is to be made in each case by the county treasurer of the county concerned, in accordance with the provisions of the chapter above referred to.

Acting under this statute, the county treasurer of the county of Franklin has made a readjustment of the salaries of the officers of the district courts of that county, and now desires to be informed by you whether or not such readjustment is to be approved by you.

I am of opinion that St. 1905, c. 339, cannot be construed to amend St. 1904, c. 453, except in so far as the classification of specified districts in the classes established by section 1 may be changed by the new basis of computation. The obvious purpose of the act is to provide that instead of the previously existing tables of population the later tables established by the census of 1905 are to be used in determining what special districts are to be included under any of the ten classes. The Legislature has, however, seen fit to exclude the county of Franklin and one district in the county of Hampshire from the provisions of section 1, and to establish fixed salaries for the court officers included within the act, which are not affected by population. In my opinion this provision remains unchanged by the enactment of St. 1905, c. 339, and it must follow, therefore, that the treasurer of the county of Franklin was not authorized to readjust the salaries of the officers of the district courts upon any basis of population.

Very truly yours,

Constitutional Law — Governor — Petition for Pardon — Executive Council.

The Governor may, in his discretion, refuse to refer to the Executive Council a petition for pardon or a petition for commutation of the death penalty.

JAN. 31, 1906.

His Excellency CURTIS GUILD, Jr., Governor.

SIR: — I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 24th, in which you ask whether the Governor, in his discretion, has the constitutional right to refuse to refer a petition for pardon to the honorable Council, in case he deems it should not be granted, and also whether he has a right to refuse to refer a petition for the commutation of the death penalty, in case he believes such commutation should not be granted; and I beg leave to say that the Constitution of Massachusetts, part the second, chapter II., section I., article VIII., provides: —

> The power of pardoning offences . . . shall be in the governor, by and with the advice of council.

The power to commute is an incident of the power to pardon; it is pardoning upon condition of the convict's voluntary submission to a lesser punishment. The two questions may, therefore, be answered together, as they are both governed by the language in the Constitution above quoted. Power to pardon under that provision lies solely with the Governor, by and with the advice of the Council.

I am of opinion that the Governor may refuse to refer to the Council a petition for pardon or a petition for commutation of the death penalty. By the Constitution of Massachusetts, part the second, chapter II., section I., article IV.: —

> The governor shall have authority, from time to time, at his discretion, to assemble and call together the councillors of this commonwealth for the time being; and the governor with the said councillors, or five of them at least, shall, and may, from time to time, hold and keep a council, for the ordering and directing the affairs of the commonwealth, agreeably to the constitution and the laws of the land.

If he desires their advice he may call them together and take it. If he does not desire their advice, he is not obliged to take it unless he proposes to act upon it after he has taken it.

A former Attorney-General has ruled that the Governor may refuse to pardon a convict although the pardon is recommended by the Council, and said: —

The Council has no pardoning power. The Governor, it is true, cannot exercise the power of pardon vested in him excepting by the advice of the Council. But he cannot be directed by that body to exercise the power; for, if he could be, the power would be in the Council and not in him, and he would be a ministerial officer only to execute the power so vested in that body. The power to pardon necessarily imports the right to refuse pardon. (1 Op. Attys.-Gen., 199.)

I am, with great respect, very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Intoxicating Liquors — Innholder — "Open" or "Public Bar."

An "open" or "public bar" is a bar or counter kept and maintained principally if not exclusively for the sale of intoxicating liquors under any one of the first three classes of licenses enumerated in R. L., c. 100, § 18, to be drunk at such bar or counter when furnished, such bar or counter being open to the public so that all persons not excepted by the provisions of R. L., c. 100, § 17, cl. 4, may have access thereto, and may obtain liquor for immediate consumption.

An innholder who maintains an inn or hotel may, under the laws of this Commonwealth, have upon his premises a bar which is not within the above definition an "open" or "public bar."

FEB. 8, 1906.

Hon. WILLIAM F. DANA, President of the Senate.

DEAR SIR: — I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of an order adopted by the honorable Senate on the sixth day of February, 1906, requiring the opinion of the Attorney-General upon the following: —

Ordered, That the Senate request of the Attorney-General his opinion on the following question: Under the laws now in force, can a hotel in the Commonwealth legally have a bar which is not a public or open bar?

R. L., c. 100, § 18, establishes five classes of licenses which are material to the present question. These are as follows: —

First class. To sell liquors of any kind, to be drunk on the premises.

Second class. To sell malt liquors, cider and light wines containing not more than fifteen per cent of alcohol, to be drunk on the premises.

Third class. To sell malt liquors and cider, to be drunk on the premises.

Fourth class. To sell liquors of any kind, not to be drunk on the premises.

Fifth class. To sell malt liquors, cider and light wines containing not more than fifteen per cent of alcohol, not to be drunk on the premises.

Section 17, cl. 7, of the same chapter, prescribes conditions which shall be attached to licenses issued by authority of chapter 100. These conditions establish that each license of the first three classes shall be issued only to persons holding licenses either as innholders or as common victuallers, but from the language of the second paragraph of clause 7, which deals with the first five classes, it may fairly be assumed that the statute contemplates that an innkeeper may also hold a license either of the fourth or fifth class from the following language; "but an innkeeper shall not upon such holiday sell, give away or deliver intoxicating liquor in his inn under a fourth or fifth class license.

If an innkeeper holds a license under either the fourth or fifth classes, he would be authorized to sell liquors not to be drunk on the premises, but he would necessarily have a place where such liquors were kept, stored and sold.

A bar is defined by the Century Encyclopedia and Dictionary as "that portion of a tavern, inn, coffee-house or the like, where liquor, etc., are set out. A counter over which articles are served in such an establishment." Such a place for the keeping or selling of liquors not to be drunk on the premises would not, in my opinion, constitute a public bar, although it is clearly within the definition of a bar. That a distinction existed between the word "bar" and the term "public bar" is, I think, shown by the provision which formerly existed in Pub. Sts., c. 100, § 9, cl. 5, which provided that: —

> Each license of the first, second and third classes [identical with the first three classes enumerated in R. L., c. 100, § 18] shall be subject to the further condition that the licensee shall not keep a public bar and shall hold a license as an innholder or common victualler.

Under this statute, the court, in Commonwealth v. Rogers, 135 Mass. 536, at p. 539, defined the term "public bar" as follows: —

It was doubtless the purpose of the Legislature, in requiring that a license to sell liquors, to be drunk on the premises, shall be subject to the "condition that the licensee shall not keep a public bar, and shall hold a license as an innholder or common victualler," to discourage to some extent the sale of liquor to be drunk on the premises, except in connection with meals or lunches. Pub. Sts., c. 100, § 9, cl. 5. This consideration is entitled to some weight in determining the meaning of the term "public bar" as used in the statute.

It would certainly be difficult, and probably impossible, to define with absolute precision the meaning of the term "public bar," so as to include everything that would, and exclude everything that would not, constitute such a bar, though under any given state of facts it might not be difficult to determine whether or not they constituted such a bar.

Such a bar must obviously be something at which liquors are sold, to be drunk on the premises; and it is equally obvious that everything at which liquors are so sold is not necessarily such a bar; for the purpose of the license is to authorize such sales, unless made in a certain manner. In a somewhat general way, a public bar may be defined as a counter, table, shelf or other similar device, designed and used for the purpose of facilitating the sale and delivery of liquors there kept to any one who may apply for them, to be then and there drunk, not in connection with meals, lunches or food. A lunch counter, designed and used for furnishing lunches, would not be such a bar merely because sales of liquor only are sometimes made there.

It would seem that in this opinion the court goes even further in distinguishing between a bar and a public bar, in stating that "a lunch counter, designed and used for furnishing lunches, would not be such a bar [public bar] merely because sales of liquor only are sometimes made there." It would follow, therefore, that an innholder holding a license of the first class might, in connection with a restaurant, maintain a bar or counter at which food was furnished, and over which liquors were sold, generally in connection with food, but sometimes without food, and would not be maintaining a public bar, though he might well be held to be maintaining a bar. The distinction seems to be whether or not the principal business conducted at a bar or counter is the sale of liquors without food, or whether the sale of liquors is merely incidental to the business of furnishing food. Commonwealth v. Everson, 140 Mass. 292; Commonwealth v. Rogers, 135 Mass. 536.

The term "open bar" has never been defined by our courts, but I am of opinion that it is synonymous with the term "public bar," and that a public bar may, for the purposes of this inquiry, be defined as a bar or counter kept or maintained principally, if not exclusively, for the sale of liquors under any one of the first three classes of licenses enumerated in R. L., c. 100, § 18, to be drunk at such bar or counter when furnished, such bar or counter being open to the public so that all persons not coming within the exceptions enumerated in section 17, clause 4, might have access thereto, and might obtain, for the purposes of immediate consumption, such liquor as they desire. I am also of opinion that an innholder who maintains a hotel or inn may, under the laws of this Commonwealth, have a bar upon his premises which is not, within the above definition, a public bar.

Very respectfully,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

County Commissioners — Contracts — "Construction of Public Works" — Notice — Posting and Publication.

The words "construction of public works," as used in R. L., c. 20, § 27, providing in part that all contracts made by the county commissioners for the construction of public works, if exceeding $800 in amount, shall be made in writing and after posting and publication of notice as therein prescribed, do not require that notice of proposals for the employment of architects to prepare plans shall be posted and published.

FEB. 9, 1906.

CHARLES R. PRESCOTT, Esq., Controller of County Accounts.

DEAR SIR: — I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your request of January 18, asking my opinion as to whether the employment of architects to prepare plans for the construction of public works is included within the provisions of section 27 of chapter 20 of the Revised Laws; that is, whether it is required that notices for proposals for the drawing of plans for such work shall be posted and published.

R. L., c. 20, § 27, provides: —

All contracts made by them for building, altering, furnishing or repairing public buildings, or for the construction of public works, or for the purchase of supplies, shall, if exceeding eight hundred dollars in amount, be made in writing, after notice for proposals therefor has been posted in a conspicuous place in the county court house for at least one week and has been published at least three times in a newspaper, if any, published in the city or town interested in the work contracted for; otherwise in the newspaper of the most general circulation in the county. They shall, in each case, make and file with the county treasurer a certificate under oath of such publication and posting. All proposals shall be publicly opened in the presence of a majority of the county commissioners and recorded in their records. In an emergency, repairs may be contracted for without such advertisement or posting. They shall certify to the exigency upon the orders to the county treasurer for payment of all bills for such repairs. All contracts made under the provisions of this section, and all changes in, or additions to, or agreements or orders for extras under, such contract, shall be in writing and recorded in a book kept for the purpose with the records of the county. No contract made in violation of the provisions of this section shall be valid against the county, and no payment thereon shall be made by the county. The commissioners may, however, cause county buildings to be repaired by day work, if, in the judgment of the board, expressed in a vote, the best interests of the county require; but no bill in excess of eight hundred dollars for repairs done by day work shall be paid by the county treasurer unless, upon or with the bill, the clerk of the county commissioners has certified that such vote is entered upon their records.

The sole question raised is as to the meaning of the phrase "construction of public works." This phrase is susceptible of two interpretations: it may include work of every kind which has any connection, direct or indirect, with the construction of a public work, or it may include only actual building operations in accordance with a plan already prepared. The words "constructed" and "construction" as used in other statutes have been before the court for interpretation. See Donnell v. Starlight, 103 Mass. 227; Attorney-General v. Ware River Railroad Co., 115 Mass. 400; McDonald v. The Nimbus, 137 Mass. 360; Crowell v. Cape Cod Ship Canal Co., 168 Mass. 157.

These decisions, however, furnish little assistance in the present inquiry. In Crowell v. Cape Cod Ship Canal Co., supra, the question was, what was meant by the words "all claims for labor performed or furnished in the construction of said canal"? It became necessary to determine whether or not the services of the president and clerk of the corporation, the chief engineer, the assistant engineer and a clerk of the chief engineer were included within this expression. The court decided that these services were not so included, and in the opinion said: —

Presumably an important part of the services rendered in the engineering department were in locating the canal before beginning the work of construction.

But pointed out that the statute made a distinction between locating and constructing in the phrase "said canal company may locate but shall not begin to construct said canal" before making the deposit required by the statute. There is not in the language of R. L., c. 20, § 27, any such clear indication of a limitation upon the meaning of the word "construction." It seems, however, that the meaning of the word as so limited is the more natural one, and, consequently, that in the absence of some special reason for adopting another meaning this meaning is to be adopted. Not only is there no reason for departing from the more usual interpretation, but there is reason to conclude that the Legislature intended to use the word in its more natural and restricted meaning.

When plans and specifications for construction have been prepared, proposals for furnishing labor and material can be readily made, since the requirements to be complied with can be definitely stated. When, however, only the general nature of the work contemplated has been determined upon, proposals for drawing the plans for such work cannot be so readily made, since the requirements cannot be definitely stated. In the absence of language which compels an inclusion of the preparation of plans among those things which may be contracted for only after notice for proposals has been posted and published, it is not to be assumed that the Legislature intended it to be so included.

I am therefore of opinion that the words "construction of public works" were used by the Legislature with the intention that they be narrowly construed, and that the statute does not require that notice for proposals for the employment of architects to prepare plans shall be posted and published.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Charitable Corporation — Special Charter — Increase in Holdings of Real and Personal Property.

A corporation chartered under a special act, for the purpose of providing for the support of aged, destitute women not otherwise provided for, may increase its holdings of real and personal property under the general provision of R. L., c. 125, § 8, authorizing any corporation organized under general or special laws for educational, charitable, benevolent or religious purposes to hold real or personal estate to an amount not exceeding $1,500,000, provided that the charter of such corporation contains no provision inconsistent therewith.

FEB. 14, 1906.

J. B. FERBER, Esq., Chairman, Committee on Bills in the Third Reading.

DEAR SIR: — I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 8th in reference to House Bill No. 208 and Senate Bill No. 15, of the current year, in which you inquire whether the corporations mentioned therein, namely, the Trustees of Monson Academy and the Association for the Relief of Aged and Destitute Women in Salem, "are empowered by general law to increase their holdings of real and personal estate to the extent specified in the said bills, so that the legislation embodied in these bills would be superfluous." Your letter further states that: —

> It is understood, and is made a part of the question herewith submitted, that a yearly fee for tuition is charged by the Monson Academy, and that a fee, or lump sum, for the admission of inmates is charged by the Association for the Relief of Aged and Destitute Women in Salem; but in neither case is the fee equal to the expenditure made necessary by the admission of a scholar in the one case, or of an inmate in the other.

R. L., c. 125, § 2, provides that a corporation may be formed by authority of the chapter, "for any educational, charitable, benevolent or religious purpose."

Section 8 provides: —

> Any corporation organized under general or special laws for any of the purposes mentioned in section two and under sections thirteen to sixteen, inclusive, may hold real and personal estate to an amount not exceeding one million five hundred thousand dollars, which shall be devoted to the purposes set forth in its charter or agreement of association, and it may receive and hold, in trust or otherwise, funds received by gift or bequest to be devoted by it to such purposes.

The committee desire to be informed whether or not the corporations hereinbefore named may hold real and personal estate in the amount specified by authority of R. L., c. 125, § 8, without express legislative sanction therefor.

In the case of Senate Bill No. 15, the Association for the Relief of Aged and Destitute Women in Salem was incorporated under a special act (St. 1860, c. 183), for the purpose of providing for the support of aged, destitute women not otherwise provided for, and for such purpose was authorized to hold real and personal property to the amount of $100,000. This amount was subsequently increased by St. 1885, c. 21, to $300,000. The purpose for which this association was chartered is clearly a charitable or benevolent one, within the meaning of R. L., c. 125, § 2, since such purpose is for the relief of the needy, the sick or the afflicted. See Chamberlain v. Stearns, 111 Mass. 267; Mass. Soc. for Prevention of Cruelty, etc., v. Boston, 142 Mass. 24; New England Theosophical Soc. v. Boston, 172 Mass. 60.

There seems to be no good reason why it might not as well have been incorporated under the general laws existing in 1860 as by special enactment. See St. 1857, c. 56; Gen. Sts., c. 32.

It follows, therefore, that it is within the permission given by R. L., c. 125, § 8, and may increase its holdings of real and personal estate to the amount specified.

In the case of House Bill No. 208, it is equally clear that the Trustees of Monson Academy are a corporation formed for educational, benevolent or charitable purposes. See Mt. Hermon Boys' School v. Gill, 145 Mass. 139; Wesleyan Academy v. Wilbraham, 99 Mass. 599. But there is a distinction in the language of the act of incorporation (St. 1804, c. 10, by which, in section 2, the corporation is authorized to hold real and personal estate), in that there is the following proviso: —

> Provided, that the annual income of the whole estate of the said corporation shall not exceed five thousand dollars.

Assuming that this section has not, since its enactment, been amended so as to destroy the force of this prohibition, I am of opinion that the corporation may not take advantage of the provisions of R. L., c. 125, § 8, and that special legislation is necessary to authorize any increased holdings of real and personal estate by it.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Metropolitan Park Commission — Rules and Regulations for the Use of the Charles River.

The Metropolitan Park Commission may, regardless of the ownership of the soil beneath the stream, enact and enforce rules and regulations governing the public use of the Charles River at any point within the metropolitan parks district, provided that such rules and regulations are not repugnant to the power of Congress to regulate commerce, and are not in conflict with the authority to supervise tide waters, vested by R. L., c. 96, § 8, in the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners.

FEB. 17, 1906.

JOHN WOODBURY, Esq., Secretary, Metropolitan Park Commission.

DEAR SIR: — I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of January 31, in which the opinion of the Attorney-General is requested by the Metropolitan Park Commission upon the following questions: —

First. — Whether the commission has authority to enact and enforce rules and regulations governing the public use of the Charles River at any point within the metropolitan parks district, regardless of the ownership of the soil beneath the river; or whether the right is limited to those parts of the river where the Commonwealth, through this commission, owns and controls the bed of the river.

Second. — If the right to enact and enforce rules and regulations under the act of 1900 is limited to those parts of the river where the commission owns and controls the bed of the river, what authority does the act of 1900 give beyond that contained in section 4 of chapter 407 of the Acts of the year 1893?

Acts of 1893, c. 407, § 4, provides that: —

. . . In furtherance of the powers herein granted, said board may employ a suitable police force, make rules and regulations for the government and use of the public reservations under their care, and for breaches thereof affix penalties not exceeding twenty dollars for one offence, to be imposed by any court of competent jurisdiction, and in general may do all acts needful for the proper execution of the powers and duties granted to and imposed upon said board by the terms of this act.

Acts of 1897, c. 121, § 3, provides that: —

The police appointed or employed by said commission, . . . shall have within the metropolitan parks district all the powers of police officers and constables of cities and towns of this Commonwealth, except the power of serving and executing civil process.

Acts of 1900, c. 340, § 1, provides that: —

The metropolitan park commission may from time to time make rules and regulations to govern the public use of the Charles river, the Neponset river, and the Mystic river, within the metropolitan parks district, and of the ponds and other waters along which it holds abutting lands for public open spaces in said district, and for breaches thereof may affix penalties not exceeding twenty dollars for one offence, to be imposed by any court of competent jurisdiction; and in general may do all acts needful for the proper execution of the powers and duties granted to and imposed upon said board by this act. . . .

By this section the Legislature has delegated to the commission authority to regulate the public use of the entire Charles River as far as it flows within the metropolitan parks district, unless the words "along which it holds abutting lands," etc., qualify all the rivers and waters mentioned, and not merely "the ponds and other waters" immediately preceding those words. Such a construction, however, seems to me an impossible one.

If, then, the Commonwealth itself had the power to regulate this use of the river, it has delegated that power to the Board of Park Commissioners. Such a delegation is constitutional. In Brodbine v. Revere, 182 Mass. 598, at p. 603, the court says: —

We are of opinion that the authority given to the Board of Metropolitan Park Commissioners to make rules and regulations in regard to parks and ways, with a provision that breaches of these rules shall be punishable like breaches of the peace, is not a delegation of legislative power which is unconstitutional.

The question, therefore, is whether the Commonwealth had authority to regulate the public use of the Charles River. In Massachusetts it has been repeatedly held that the public has the right to navigate and fish for pleasure, or as a business, over tidal waters, and that it has the right to navigate and to have fish freely pass in rivers above tide water, if navigable in fact. Drake v. Curtis, 1 Cush. 395, 413.

In Commonwealth v. Alger, 7 Cush. 53, the court says (p. 98): —

In addition to these [private rights] are two acknowledged public rights, which are regarded as such, to be preserved and maintained for general and common use, although every portion of the soil over which the rivers flow is the private property of the riparian owners. These are: 1. The right of passage with boats, rafts and other vessels adapted to the use of such waters; 2. The right of the public to have these rivers kept open and free for the migratory fish. . . . Both of these rights are recognized as public rights in the case of Commonwealth v. Chapin, 5 Pick. 199.

In Blood v. Nashua & Lowell Railroad, 2 Gray, 137, 139, it is said: —

But there is another right in rivers and water courses, for navigation, boating and rafting. The rule of the common law is that waters are not navigable unless within reach of the ebb and flow of the tide. But it has often been held here that the public have a right to the use of the large rivers, and, indeed, of all rivers and water courses, suitable for boats and rafts, and in that sense they are deemed navigable, though above the ebb and flow of the tide. In these, there is a right of way for boats and rafts.

It is also well settled that the Commonwealth may make rules and regulations governing these public uses. Commonwealth v. Vincent, 108 Mass. 441, 447.

The power of the Legislature of the Commonwealth over the public rights of navigation and fishing in any waters within its boundaries is unrestricted, provided it does not interfere with the power to regulate commerce, conferred upon the general government by the Constitution of the United States. Cooley v. Philadelphia Board of Wardens, 12 How. 299. . . . In those waters, whether within or beyond the ebb and flow of the tide, which are not navigable from the sea for any useful purpose, there can be no restriction upon its authority to regulate the public right of fishing, or to make any grants of exclusive rights which do not impair other private rights already vested.

The private rights of riparian owners are not now under discussion and could not be affected by any action of the Park Commission. See Proprietors of Mills v. Commonwealth, 164 Mass. 227, at p. 229.

From the foregoing statutes and cases I think it is clear that the commission has authority to enact and enforce reasonable rules and regulations governing the public use of the Charles River at any point within the metropolitan parks district, regardless of the ownership of the soil beneath the river, and above and below the dam at Watertown. Such regulations as are made for the use of that part of the river below the dam may be limited, however, by the power of Congress to regulate commerce, and should, furthermore, be made in the light of the authority of the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners, as provided in R. L., c. 96, § 8: —

Said board shall have general care and supervision of the harbors and tide waters within the commonwealth, of the flats and lands flowed thereby, of the waters and banks of the Connecticut river within the commonwealth and of all structures therein, in order to prevent and remove unauthorized encroachments and causes of every kind which may injure said river or interfere with the navigation of such harbors, injure their channels or cause a reduction of their tide waters, and to protect and develop the rights and property of the commonwealth in such flats and lands; and it may make surveys, examinations and observations necessary therefor.

As, in my opinion, the first question should be answered in the affirmative, an answer to the second question becomes unnecessary.

Very truly yours,
DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Tide Water — Cities and Towns — License — Fish Trap.

A fish trap cannot be lawfully maintained in tide water without a license, as required by R. L., c. 91, § 116, from the selectmen of the town, or mayor and board of aldermen of the city, within which such fish trap is located.

FEB. 26, 1906.

Hon. WOODWARD EMERY, Chairman, Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners.

DEAR SIR: — The recent inquiry of the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners, referring to this department the following communication from the selectmen of Provincetown —

TOWN OF PROVINCETOWN,
OFFICE OF SELECTMEN, Jan. 22, 1906.

Harbor and Land Commissioners of Massachusetts.

GENTLEMEN: — Do you consider the selectmen of this town have any jurisdiction over a fishing trap that is constructed the same as a fish weir, only it has no poles? Anchors and rocks are used to keep it in place. As we read the Revised Laws it looks to us as though a fish trap requires a license the same as a fish weir. We would like your opinion on it, and will abide by your decision.

Very truly yours,
GEO. ALLEN,
HERMAN S. COOK,
C. AUSTIN COOK,
Selectmen of Provincetown.

and requesting an opinion as to whether the Board should consider an unlicensed fish trap a nuisance in tide water, came duly to hand.

R. L., c. 91, § 116, provides that: —

> The mayor and aldermen of a city and the selectmen of a town lying upon tide water, except cities and towns bordering on Buzzard's bay, may in writing authorize any person to construct weirs, pound nets or fish traps in said waters within the limits of such city or town for a term not exceeding five years, if such weirs, pound nets or fish traps do not obstruct navigation or encroach on the rights of other persons.

This statute in express terms applies to fish traps as well as to weirs. If the "fishing trap," as the selectmen in their letter assume, is a fish trap, it cannot be lawfully maintained without a license from the selectmen of the town within which it is located.

R. L., c. 91, § 118, provides that whoever maintains such a fish trap, without a license, shall forfeit ten dollars for each day he maintains such fish trap, and may be indicted therefor and enjoined therefrom.

Very truly yours,

Insurance — Foreign Insurance Company — Tax upon Premiums — Reciprocal Legislation.

A tax or excise assessed to a New York life insurance company upon all premiums charged or received upon contracts made by it in this Commonwealth, at a rate equal to the highest rate imposed during the preceding year by the State of New York upon Massachusetts life insurance companies doing business in New York, in accordance with the provisions of R. L., c. 14, § 28, is properly imposed upon such a company since chapter 118 of the laws of 1901 of the State of New York went into effect; and the tax or excise so assessed need not be reduced either because the New York statute has been held in that State not to be applicable to the receipt of premiums upon contracts entered into by a domestic company prior to the passage of the act, or because a New York insurance company doing business in this Commonwealth may be assessed upon a class of receipts which are possibly not assessed to Massachusetts companies doing business in New York, — especially since the going into effect of chapter 94 of the Acts of 1905 of the State of New York.

MARCH 7, 1906.

Hon. W. D. T. TREFRY, Tax Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: — Under date of Jan. 11, 1906, you asked an opinion of my predecessor, Hon. Herbert Parker, upon certain questions relating to the taxation of life insurance companies. You say: —

Life insurance companies, both foreign and domestic, are taxed in Massachusetts, under the provisions of section 24, chapter 14 of the Revised Laws, upon the net value of all policies in force on the preceding thirty-first day of December, issued or assumed by such company and held by residents of the Commonwealth. They may also be taxed under the reciprocal provision of section 28 of chapter 14.

R. L., c. 14, § 24, provides that a domestic or foreign company or association which is engaged in the business of life insurance within this Commonwealth, — shall annually pay an excise tax of one-quarter of one per cent upon the net value of all policies in force on the preceding thirty-first day of December, issued or assumed by such company and held by residents of the commonwealth, as determined by the tax commissioner. . . .

Section 28 provides that: —

A life insurance company, association or partnership, incorporated or associated by authority of any other state of the United States, by the laws of which a tax is imposed upon the premium receipts of life insurance companies chartered by this commonwealth and doing business in such state, or upon their agents, shall annually, so long as such laws continue in force, pay a tax or excise upon all premiums charged or received upon contracts made in this commonwealth, at a rate equal to the highest rate so imposed during the year.

Laws of New York, 1901, c. 118, § 1, provides that: —

An annual state tax for the privilege of exercising corporate franchises or for carrying on business in their corporate or organized capacity within this state, equal to one per centum of the gross amount of premiums received during the preceding calendar year, for business done in this state, whether such premiums were in the form of money, notes, credits or any other substitute for money, shall be paid annually into the treasury of the state, on or before the first day of June, by the following corporations; . . .

2. Every insurance corporation incorporated, organized or formed under, by or pursuant to the laws of any other state of the United States and doing business in this state, except a corporation doing a fire insurance business or a marine insurance business . . .

This act was amended by Laws of New York, 1905, c. 94, by providing that the tax should be on the gross amount of premiums received during the preceding calendar year — for business done at any time in this state, which gross amount of premiums shall include all premiums received during such preceding calendar year on all policies, certificates, renewals, policies subsequently canceled, insurance and reinsurance during such preceding calendar year, and all premiums that are received during such preceding calendar year on all policies, certificates, renewals, policies subsequently canceled, insurance and reinsurance executed, issued or delivered in all years prior to such preceding calendar year, whether such premiums were in the form of money, notes, etc.

In 1905 the Tax Commissioner of Massachusetts assessed the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York a tax under section 24 upon the net value of its policies, amounting to $21,058.58; and also assessed a tax upon the same company, under the provisions of section 28, based upon the premiums received during the year ending Dec. 31, 1904, of $46,618.25. By an agreement made with the Commissioner of Insurance of the State of New York, the taxes assessed under sections 24 and 28 are not deemed to be cumulative; that is, a tax under each section is estimated and then only the larger one is collected.

In the case of The People of the State of New York, ex rel. The Provident Savings Life Insurance Society v. Miller, decided by the New York Court of Appeals in 1904, it was held that under chapter 118 of the Laws of 1901 the premium receipts of a domestic insurance company could only be assessed upon receipts from insurance written subsequently to the passage of the act, and that receipts of premiums upon contracts entered into before the enactment of the statute could not be taxed.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has appealed from the tax assessed in Massachusetts under the provisions of section 28, upon the ground that under the New York decision only such receipts as were taxable in New York during the year 1904 could be taxed in Massachusetts for that same year. You request the opinion of the Attorney-General as to whether you were right in assessing the tax as you did upon the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for the year 1904.

I am of opinion that the tax was properly assessed and no part of it should be repaid to the company. There are several grounds upon which the validity of the assessment can be maintained: —

1. Section 28 provides that the tax or excise upon all premiums charged or received upon contracts made in this Commonwealth shall be paid annually, so long as the laws in the foreign State continue in force, and at a rate equal to the highest rate so imposed during the year. Under this section it is obvious that the exact form or quantity of premiums collected or taxed in the foreign State in a given year is immaterial, the only material question being, What was the highest rate imposed by the foreign law during the year?

2. The New York decision does not affect the imposition of the Massachusetts tax. That case held, first, that the New York tax with respect to domestic corporations was a tax upon the exercise of a franchise; and second, that the act of receiving premiums from pre-existing contracts of insurance did not necessitate an exercise of the franchise; and the case was expressly distinguished from one involving the taxation of a corporation foreign to New York. Upon this point the court said: —

> The statute designates the burden as one "for the privilege of exercising corporate franchises," and, consequently, it can be laid only upon such business as depended upon the exercises of such franchise. It could not have been lawfully imposed upon the receipts of business contracts that the company had the right to collect and enforce by virtue of the contract alone, and that did not depend upon the exercise of the franchise. . . . The tax is purely a franchise tax and nothing else as to domestic corporations. The tax imposed "for carrying on business in their corporate or organized capacity" applies only to foreign corporations deriving their franchises from other sovereignties.

Moreover, section 28 of chapter 14 makes no distinction between an excise upon the exercise of a franchise and an excise upon the doing of business in the State; either or both may properly be taxed. See Connecticut Ins. Co. v. Commonwealth, 133 Mass. 161, at p. 163: —

> It has been uniformly held . . . that the Legislature has the power to impose an excise upon any business or calling exercised in the Commonwealth, and upon any franchise or privilege conferred by or exercised within the Commonwealth. Portland Bank v. Apthorp, 12

Mass. 252; Commonwealth v. People's Five Cents Savings Bank, 5 Allen, 428.

The power to impose an excise upon corporations or associations engaged within this Commonwealth in the business of life insurance, whether incorporated here or incorporated elsewhere and allowed by comity to carry on business here, cannot now be doubted.

Thus, the case of People v. Miller is irrelevant in this discussion; first, because its effect was expressly limited to domestic corporations, with an indication that all the premium receipts of a foreign corporation could be taxed; and second, because in Massachusetts there seems to be no objection to taxing "the right to do business" as distinguished from "the exercise of a franchise," even of a domestic company.

3. Under the act of New York, chapter 94 of the Acts of 1905, the tax assessed on all life insurance companies, whether domestic or foreign, was made expressly measurable by the amount of premiums collected during the year 1904, whether upon new contracts or renewals of old contracts. Under that statute there can be no question but that Massachusetts companies were assessed a tax in New York in 1905 based upon all their premium receipts collected in New York during 1904; consequently, there can be no injustice in assessing the Metropolitan Company in Massachusetts a tax based upon all of its premium receipts collected in Massachusetts in 1904.

4. It might be argued (by analogy with the second point decided in People v. Miller, which I have not quoted) that the tax as assessed here in 1905 is retroactive in its action, because it imposed a burden upon the receipts of 1904. But it must be remembered that section 28 has been in force since 1873. Since that time all foreign life insurance companies have been subject to being taxed under its provisions, upon a certain contingency, i.e., the passing of a certain form of taxation law in a foreign State. That contingency occurred in 1901, since which time effect has properly been given to section 28.

5. It has been argued for the Metropolitan Company that upon a broad view of the policy of the Commonwealth it would be unjust to tax a New York corporation here upon receipts which were not taxed to foreign corporations in New York, and that it is especially unjust in this instance, as the Metropolitan Company is the only foreign company whose tax under section 28 exceeds the tax under section 24. The answer to this argument is twofold: first, that the provisions of section 28 are plain, and contain no warrant for a reduction of the tax upon some vague principle of interstate justice; and second, that under the decision of People v. Miller it appears that Massachusetts corporations in New York would be and probably are assessed a tax based upon all their New York premium receipts, whether received under old or new contracts. That this company is the only one which has so far been taxed under the provisions of section 28 does not seem a sufficient reason for abating the tax, as it is confessedly a tax, not upon the value of the policies in force, as in section 24, but upon the privilege of doing business as measured by the amount of business done, — and the Metropolitan Company acknowledges that it has done by far the largest business in this Commonwealth, during the past few years, of any of the foreign companies.

The question of the constitutionality of section 28, under the clause of the Constitution which provides that "full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said general court to impose and levy reasonable duties and excises upon any produce, goods, wares, merchandise and commodities whatsoever, brought into, produced, manufactured or being within the Commonwealth," has not been raised by the Metropolitan Company. I do not, therefore, go into the problem of how far a reciprocal or retaliatory tax, as enforced by the Tax Commissioner and affecting only certain corporations of certain States, such as is provided by section 28, would be constitutional under the clause above set forth.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Taxation — Corporate Bonds — Mortgage — Value of Bonds in Excess of Value of Mortgaged Real Estate.

The bonds of the New England Cotton Yarn Company, amounting to $5,206,000 par value, are taxable to the holders thereof upon the excess of the amount outstanding over the assessed value, to wit, $2,105,575, of the real estate mortgaged to secure such bonds.

MARCH 8, 1906.

Hon. W. D. T. TREFRY, Tax Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: — You request the opinion of the Attorney-General as to whether the bonds of the New England Cotton Yarn Company, secured by a mortgage of real and personal property to

The New England Trust Company, trustee, are taxable to the individual owners thereof. It appears that there are $5,206,000 par value of its bonds outstanding, and that its real estate is assessed for $2,105,575.

It is obvious that it has always been the policy of the Commonwealth to tax as personal estate "all money at interest and other debts due the person to be taxed more than he is indebted or pays interest for." Knight v. Boston, 159 Mass. 551, held that the bonds of a mercantile corporation, the Boston Water Power Company, secured by a mortgage to a trustee for bondholders, under which the trustee had entered and been assessed for more than the par value of the outstanding bonds, are exempt from taxation under Pub. Sts., c. 11, § 4, now R. L., c. 12, § 4. The court said (p. 553): —

> When a mortgage is made to a trustee for bondholders, the mortgage interest is taxable to the trustee who represents them, as it would have been to the bondholders themselves if the mortgage had been made to them directly. In the present instance the trustees have paid the tax on the whole value of the land, which is equal to the amount of the bonds outstanding. The tax on the bonds must be abated.

The effect of this decision is to apply the exemption in all cases of mortgage debts, whether notes or bonds, and irrespective of any intervening trust. There is nothing in the case, however, to indicate that the exemption is to be extended to the excess of a loan above the assessed value of the mortgaged real estate. As the policy of the Commonwealth has been and still is to tax all indebtedness, and as the exemption was created wholly to protect certain property from double taxation, and with an exception from the exemption in clear and unequivocal terms, I am of opinion that the bonds of the New England Cotton Yarn Company are taxable to the holders thereof with respect to the excess of the amount outstanding above the assessed value of the real estate subject to the mortgage.

The only cases besides the Knight case of interest upon this point are those of Firemen's Fire Insurance Co. v. Commonwealth, 137 Mass. 80, and Worcester v. Boston, 179 Mass. 41. In the first case it was held that a corporation owning mortgages secured by real estate was entitled, under Pub. Sts., c. 12, §§ 14 to 16, and Pub. Sts., c. 13, §§ 39 and 40, to have the amount of the mortgages held by it deducted from the aggregate value of its shares in determining the amount of its franchise tax. This decision goes upon the ground that a mortgagee's interest is "real estate subject to local taxation," within the meaning of the franchise tax statute.

In the second case it is said (p. 49) that: —

> The provisions of Pub. Sts., c. 11, §§ 14, 15, 16, are rarely regarded, and the result intended by them has been practically reached by a failure on the part of the assessors to assess to the mortgagee, either as real or personal property, the sum represented by the mortgage.

Also, in Abbott v. Frost, 185 Mass. 398, 399, it is said that: —

> Such assessments are permitted by our laws relating to taxation, and have been held to be in strict accordance with their provisions.

These decisions seem to me to indicate conclusively that the words "taxable as real estate" are not limited, in their application to the interests of mortgagees, to interests actually taxed to the mortgagees in a given year, but include all such interests as might be assessed to them under section 16. The case of Knight v. Boston does not definitely decide this point, as the tax there had been assessed to and paid by the trustees; but to hold otherwise would be to permit the exemption to rest upon the caprice of individual assessors as to whether they preferred to assess the property to the mortgagor or to the mortgagee. I do not think the language should be construed to have such an effect. Consequently, I am of opinion that only the excess of the bonds over the value of the real estate is taxable, but that this is taxable irrespective of the party to whom the mortgagee's interest is actually assessed.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Public Officer — Investigation — Employment of Counsel — Expense.

Upon an investigation or hearing of charges preferred against a State official or board by the Governor and the Executive Council, such official or board may not employ counsel at the expense of the Commonwealth.

MARCH 14, 1906.

SIR: — I have the honor to acknowledge your communication of March 7, which is as follows: —

Resolved, That the opinion of the Attorney-General be requested on the following point of law: Whether in case of the investigation of a State official or board or the hearing of charges preferred against same, it is lawful for said official or board to employ counsel at the expense of the Commonwealth.

R. L., c. 7, § 1, reads as follows: —

The attorney general shall appear for the commonwealth, the secretary, the treasurer and receiver general, the auditor of accounts and for state boards and commissions in all suits and other civil proceedings in which the commonwealth is a party or interested, or in which the official acts and doings of said officers are called in question, in all the courts of the commonwealth, except upon criminal recognizances and bail bonds; and in such suits and proceedings before any other tribunal when requested by the governor or by the general court or either branch thereof. All such suits and proceedings shall be prosecuted or defended by him or under his direction. . . . All legal services required by such officers, boards, commissions and commissioner of pilots for the harbor of Boston in matters relating to their official duties shall be rendered by the attorney general or under his direction.

This statute put an end to the practice which previously had prevailed to some extent among State boards and commissions of employing private counsel in public matters at the expense of the Commonwealth. McQuesten v. Attorney-General, 187 Mass. 185.

R. L., c. 7, § 9, provides that the Attorney-General —

If in his opinion the interests of the commonwealth so require, . . . may, with the approval of the governor and council, employ additional legal assistance.

The entire responsibility, therefore, for suits and proceedings, at all stages of their progress, rests upon the Attorney-General, who may, with your approval, if in his opinion the interests of the Commonwealth require, employ such additional assistance as he may deem necessary.

It has been suggested that it would be improper for the Attorney-General to appear for the officers of a board or commission at an investigation before you, in which their official acts and doings were called in question, or to have any direction as to the defence of the same; but it seems that if it would be improper for the Attorney-General to appear in such a case, then it would be improper that the money of the Commonwealth should be expended for that purpose, and that such officers should be required to defend themselves without assistance from the Commonwealth. I am therefore of opinion that the officers of such boards and commissions have no right to employ private counsel at the expense of the Commonwealth in case of an investigation of charges made against them.

I am, with great respect, very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Charitable or Benevolent Corporations — Authority to increase Holdings of Real or Personal Property.

Corporations specially chartered for charitable or benevolent purposes may, without express legislative authority, increase the amount of real or personal property held by them, in accordance with the provisions of R. L., c. 125, § 8, that any such corporation may hold real and personal estate to an amount not exceeding $1,500,000.

Quære, as to the effect of R. L., c. 125, § 12, providing that any such corporation formed before July 27, 1874, upon compliance with the requirements of such section, may accept the preceding sections of such chapter, and thereupon "shall have the powers and privileges and shall be subject to the duties and liabilities of corporations formed under said sections."

MARCH 20, 1906.

HARVEY WHEELER, Esq., Chairman, Committee on Mercantile Affairs.

DEAR SIR: — The committee on mercantile affairs ask my opinion as to whether Senate Bill No. 15 and House Bill No. 320 should be passed, or whether the desired object can be obtained under general laws. They are similar in character and authorize the holding of additional real and personal estate by the Association for the Relief of Aged and Destitute Women in Salem and the Gwynne Temporary Home for Children. In the case of the former, its status as a charitable corporation has already been considered and established by an opinion of the Attorney-General, dated Feb. 14, 1906, and, so far as appears from the evidence submitted, the Gwynne Temporary Home for Children is a similar institution, incorporated for a charitable or benevolent purpose. See Chamberlain v. Stearns, 111 Mass. 267; New England Theosophical Society v. Boston, 172 Mass. 60. Either of these institutions may, therefore, without further legislation, increase the amount of real or personal property held by it to that specified in section 8 of chapter 125 of the Revised Laws, which is as follows: —

> Any corporation organized under general or special laws for any of the purposes mentioned in section two and under sections thirteen to sixteen, inclusive, may hold real and personal estate to an amount not exceeding one million five hundred thousand dollars, which shall be devoted to the purposes set forth in its charter or agreement of association, and it may receive and hold, in trust or otherwise, funds received by gift or bequest to be devoted by it to such purposes.

I am aware of the provisions contained in R. L., c. 125, § 12, providing that a corporation formed before the twenty-seventh day of July in the year 1874, under the provisions of any statute, for any of the purposes mentioned in section 2, may accept the provisions of the preceding sections upon compliance with the requirements of section 12, upon which "such corporation shall have the powers and privileges and be subject to the duties and liabilities of corporations formed under said sections." It does not appear that either of the corporations above referred to, although both were incorporated before 1874, has acted under this section, but I am of opinion that upon consideration of the history of this legislation it cannot be construed to affect them. Gen. Sts., c. 32, which treated of corporations of the character of those under consideration, was repealed by St. 1874, c. 375, which substantially re-enacted its provisions. It seems, however, that the Legislature, fearing that by such repeal the corporate existence of corporations organized under the repealed statute might have been terminated, enacted in St. 1875, c. 49, § 2, a provision which declared that by the act of the preceding year existing corporations were not to be affected, and further providing, lest this enactment should be ineffective, that all such corporations, however organized, might be included within the provisions of the later statute upon acceptance thereof in the manner prescribed.

In United Hebrew Association v. Benshimol, 130 Mass. 325, the court held that St. 1875, c. 49, was to be construed as a continuance of St. 1874, c. 275, and in nowise affected the existence of corporations previously organized.

It is contended that, as the St. of 1874 contained no reservation, it operated to destroy all corporations created under the provisions of the General Statutes; and that the explanatory declaration in the statute of the next year could not restore their rights. But it is plain that the St. of 1874 was not passed for the purpose of affecting the rights of corporations already organized. The repeal of a general corporation law cannot be construed, in the absence of express provisions, as intended to repeal the charters of corporations formed under it, especially where the manifest purpose of the repealing act is to substitute a new law, extending the provisions of the old, and perfecting its details, but not changing its general policy. It is a familiar rule of construction that when statutes are repealed by acts which substantially retain the provisions of the old laws, the latter are held not to have been destroyed or interrupted in their binding force. "In practical operation and effect they are rather to be considered as a continuance and modification of old laws than as an abrogation of those old, and the re-enactment of new ones." Shaw, C.J., in Wright v. Oakley, 5 Met. 400, 406.

Notwithstanding this decision, the section, although enacted for a specific purpose, has been retained upon the statute books. Its express language purports to give to a corporation acting under its provisions only what such corporation already enjoyed, viz., the powers and privileges and the duties and liabilities of corporations organized under the provisions of law previously in force. This they already had, and for that reason I am of opinion that the present question is not in anywise affected by the provisions of section 12. If, however, any doubt may arise upon this point, it is certainly true that if otherwise entitled to be included under the provisions of chapter 125, the acceptance by any society of the provisions of such act, as prescribed in section 12, would entitle such society to all the rights and privileges and subject it to all the duties of that chapter, without action upon the part of the Legislature. In any event, therefore, it would seem that no legislation is necessary in the case of the two charitable organizations above referred to.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Gypsy and Brown-tail Moths — Owner of Real Estate — Destruction of Eggs and Nests — Expense — Assessed Value of Lands — Buildings.

The word "lands" as used in St. 1905, c. 381, § 6, providing that where the owner or owners of real estate fail to destroy the eggs, pupæ or nests of the gypsy or brown-tail moths, the city or town within which such real estate is situated "shall, subject to the approval of said superintendent, destroy the same, and the amount actually expended thereon, not exceeding one half of one per cent of the assessed valuation of said lands, . . . shall be assessed upon said lands," includes any buildings which may have been erected thereon.

MARCH 22, 1906.

A. H. KIRKLAND, Esq., Superintendent for Suppressing the Gypsy and Brown-tail Moths.

DEAR SIR: — My opinion is requested by you on the construction to be given the portion of paragraph 3 of section 6 of chapter 381, Acts of 1905, which reads as follows: —

If the owner or owners shall fail to destroy such eggs, pupæ or nests in accordance with the requirements of the said notice, then the city or town, acting by the public officer or board, . . . shall, subject to the approval of the said superintendent, destroy the same, and the amount actually expended thereon, not exceeding one half of one per cent of the assessed valuation of said lands, as heretofore specified in this section, shall be assessed upon said lands.

You desire to be informed whether the word "lands" as used in this section is to be interpreted as including or excluding the buildings thereon. The following statutes may prove of assistance.

R. L., c. 8, § 5, provides that: —

In construing statutes the following words shall have the meaning herein given, unless a contrary intention clearly appears: —

. . . . . .

Eighth, The words "land," "lands" and "real estate" shall include lands, tenements and hereditaments, and all rights thereto and interests therein.

R. L., c. 12, § 3, provides that: —

Real estate for the purpose of taxation shall include not only all land within the commonwealth but also all buildings and other things erected on or affixed to the same.

In the language of R. L., c. 8, § 5, above quoted, the words "land," "lands" and "real estate" are apparently used as synonymous, and as including the buildings, inasmuch as the term "hereditament" is defined by Bouvier as —

> Things capable of being inherited, be it corporeal or incorporeal, real, personal or mixed, and including not only lands and everything thereon, but also heirlooms and certain furniture which by custom may descend to the heirs, together with the lands; and the term "tenement" as —

> Everything of a permanent nature which may be holden. House, or homestead. Property held by tenant.

The word "land" has been construed to include under the statute an undivided interest therein held by a tenant in common. Leavitt v. Cambridge, 120 Mass. 157, 159.

From the foregoing statutes and definitions I think it is clear that, in the absence of language, in the act of 1905 indicating clearly a contrary intention, the word "lands" must be taken to include buildings, and the question, therefore, is whether such a contrary intention clearly appears. I am of opinion that not only does no such intention clearly appear, but that it does not appear at all.

The words "as heretofore specified in this section," in the clause under discussion, refer to the earlier provision that "the mayor of every city and the selectmen of every town shall . . . cause a notice to be sent to the owner or owners . . . of every parcel of land therein which is infested with said moths." The lands referred to, therefore, are the parcels of land infested with moths; and the term "parcel of land" is the term to be interpreted. If this is considered to exclude buildings, it would follow that no notice need be sent to and no action taken by persons whose buildings, but not whose lands, were infested. Such can hardly have been the intention of the Legislature.

Throughout the act the following words descriptive of real estate are used: "estate," "real estate," "real property," "land," "property," "private property," "parcel of land," "lands," "premises" and "private estates." They are apparently used somewhat indiscriminately, and to interpret the word "lands," in every case, to exclude buildings, would lead to many incongruities. I can see no more reason for so interpreting it in the clause under discussion with respect to the assessed valuation than in several other places where it appears. Moreover, there seems to be no object in excluding the assessment of buildings, under the act, as it is common knowledge that the gypsy moth is very apt to build its nest on buildings as well as on trees. In fact, I am informed by you that clearing buildings of the nests of gypsy moths forms a considerable part of your work.

Had the Legislature intended to distinguish between land, as such, and the buildings thereon, it could easily have done so, for I find among the bills upon this subject presented to the Legislature of 1905, House Bill No. 644, in which a distinction was made between "house lots," "farm land" and "waste land," and which contained the proviso that "no owner shall pay more than one half of one per cent of the assessed value of said house lot, nor more than twenty-five dollars for farm land, nor more than fifty dollars for such work on any one estate in any one calendar year." The report upon this bill was "leave to withdraw," by the committee to which it was referred. The fact that this distinction was not adopted in the bill as finally passed, indicates that the Legislature did not desire to differentiate between the various sorts of real estate.

Although it is true that the form prescribed for the use of assessors in assessing taxes (R. L., c. 12, § 58) has separate columns for the description and valuation of buildings and land, and these distinctions are actually made by the assessors, I do not think these facts are material in connection with this statute; for not only is the tax assessed on the real estate as a whole (R. L., c. 12, § 68), but also it has been indicated that the purpose of the classification above referred to is purely statistical. See Hamilton Manfg. Co. v. Lowell, 185 Mass. 114, at p. 117, where Knowlton, C.J., says: —

> Land and the buildings upon it are ordinarily parts of the same real estate, and they cannot be separated for the purpose of collecting taxes. Although for statistical purposes they are at first valued separately, their aggregate worth, limited by their value in use together, constitutes the valuation of the entire real estate for the purpose of taxation.

I am therefore of opinion that the phrase "not exceeding one half of one per cent of the assessed valuation of said lands, as heretofore specified in this section," should be interpreted to mean the assessed valuation of the lands with the buildings thereon.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Town — School Committee — Authority to draw Orders directly on Town Treasury — By-Law.

The school committee of a town may, in the performance of the duties imposed upon such committee by law, and for the purposes set forth in the statutes, make expenditures which such town is bound to pay, and for the payment thereof may draw orders directly upon the town treasury, notwithstanding a by-law of the town to the effect that the town treasurer shall not pay money upon orders other than orders drawn by the selectmen.

MARCH 22, 1906.

GEORGE H. MARTIN, Esq., Secretary, State Board of Education.

DEAR SIR: — Your letter of March 20 requests my opinion upon the following specified questions: —

1. Is it within the rights of a school committee to draw orders directly upon the town treasury, without the intervention of the selectmen, for the payment of bills contracted for the support of schools, and is the treasurer under obligation to honor such orders?

2. Does the existence of a town by-law forbidding the treasurer to pay out any money, except upon orders drawn by the selectmen, affect the rights of the school committee in this regard?

R. L., c. 42, relating to public schools, in section 27 provides that the school committee — shall have the general charge and superintendence of all the public schools, industrial schools, evening schools and evening high schools.

Section 28 provides that it — shall select and contract with the teachers of the public schools, etc.

Section 34 provides that it — shall direct what books shall be used in the public schools, etc.

Section 35 provides that it — shall, at the expense of the town, purchase text books and other school supplies used in the public schools, and, subject to such regulations as to their care and custody as it may prescribe, loan them to the pupils of such schools free of charge, etc.

Section 37 provides that it — shall, at the expense of the town and in accordance with appropriations therefor previously made, procure apparatus, reference books and other means of illustration.

It will be seen that the powers conferred upon the school committee in any city or town are very broad, and that they may contract with the teachers whom they desire to employ, and by such contract bind the town to pay the compensation determined upon.

So in Batchelder v. the City of Salem, 4 Cush. 599, the court said: —

By this statute, the committee has the power, absolutely and unconditionally, to agree upon the salaries of the teachers. There is no power given to any other men, or body of men, to contract with the teachers, and this power is given by the statute, and not by the town or city.

In this case it was held that the school committee might bind the town to pay to the teachers selected the amount of compensation agreed upon.

So in Charlestown v. Gardner et al., 98 Mass. 587, it was said that: —

The power given to the school committee to contract with teachers necessarily implies and includes the power to determine their salaries.

So under St. 1826, c. 143, providing that "the school committee of each town shall procure class-books at the expense of the town and to be paid for out of the town treasury," it was held in Hartwell v. Littleton, 13 Pick. 229, that the school committee might either buy the books on the credit of the town, or might themselves pay for them, and so make themselves creditors of the town.

In view of these cases, which beyond doubt establish the power of a school committee to make expenditures for the purposes specified in the statutes and in connection with the duties therein imposed upon them, which the city or town for which they act will be bound to pay, I am of opinion that such committee may draw orders directly upon the town treasury, and that the selectmen have no power or authority in the premises to refuse such orders; and I think this is true notwithstanding that there may be in existence a town by-law which forbids the town treasurer to pay out money upon orders other than orders drawn by the selectmen. No by-law which is in contravention of a general statute can be valid (see Commonwealth v. Wilkins, 121 Mass. 356); and the clear effect of such a by-law as is referred to would be to limit and circumscribe the statutory powers of the school committee, and, in effect, to make them subordinate to and under the immediate direction of the selectmen, — a result not contemplated by the statutes.

Marine Insurance — Automobile — Loss by Collision.

The owner of an automobile may not, under the provisions of R. L., c. 118, § 29, relating to insurance against the perils of the sea and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance, including risks of inland navigation and transportation, be insured against loss caused by the collision of such automobile with another object, or against liability for damage caused thereby to other property.

APRIL 2, 1906.

Hon. FREDERICK L. CUTTING, Insurance Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: — You ask my opinion upon the question whether a "collision clause" insuring the owner of an automobile, whereby the owner is insured against loss to the automobile caused by a collision with another object, and also against liability for damage caused by the automobile to other property through a collision, is permissible in this Commonwealth under a marine policy.

Section 29 of chapter 118 of the Revised Laws provides that a company duly authorized to transact the business of marine insurance may — insure upon the stock or mutual plan vessels, freights, goods, money, effects, and money lent on bottomry or respondentia, against the perils of the sea and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance, including risks of inland navigation and transportation.

The clause in question in the policy submitted to me is similar to the usual collision clause in marine insurance, but altered to fit the case of an automobile. It provides as follows: —

This policy is extended to cover, whilst not in any conveyance, the risk of loss or damage to the automobile hereby insured, caused by collision with another object, whether moving or stationary, excluding always all claims for damage through detention, demurrage or loss of use.

And it is further agreed, that if the automobile hereby insured shall come in collision with another object, whether moving or stationary, and the assured become liable to pay and shall pay, any sum or sums for damages resulting therefrom to said other object, in such case these assurers will contribute towards the payment of the total amount of said damages, in the proportion that the sum insured under this policy bears to the total valuation of the automobile, as stated herein, provided that these assurers shall not in any event be held liable under this agreement for a greater sum than the amount insured under this policy.

It is also subject to the condition that there shall be no liability for any damage resulting from collision occurring while the automobile is being operated by any person under eighteen years of age, or in any race or speed test.

On Oct. 8, 1904, the Attorney-General gave an opinion to you to the effect that automobiles might properly be insured under a marine form of policy, but he did not have before him the collision clause which is now brought in question.

Section 29 of chapter 118 of the Revised Laws was first enacted in the insurance law of 1872 (c. 375, § 1), which provided as follows: —

Any ten or more persons residents of this Commonwealth, who shall have associated themselves together . . . with the intention to constitute a corporation for the purpose of transacting the business of insurance, either upon the stock or mutual principle, against loss or damage by fire, by lightning, by tempest, or by the perils of the sea, and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance companies, including risks of inland navigation and transportation, shall become a corporation . . . subject to all the duties, liabilities and restrictions set forth in all general laws which are or may be in force relating to insurance corporations.

Prior to that time there had been in force Gen. Sts., c. 58, § 32, providing as follows: —

Companies thus organized may insure vessels, freights, goods, money, effects, and money lent on bottomry or respondentia, against the perils of the sea and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance; and dwelling houses and other buildings, merchandise and other personal property, against loss by fire, according to their respective charters.

Section 65 provided that: —

No life insurance company shall issue policies insuring fire or marine risks.

Thus it appears that the phrase "perils usually insured against by marine insurance" is an old one in the statute law of Massachusetts, but that the additional words, "including risks of inland navigation and transportation," were added thereto in 1872. I do not find any case in which the phrase "and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance" has been thoroughly analyzed or discussed, but in Gage v. Tirrell, 9 Allen, 299, 307, it was said as a dictum that: —

Perils of the seas embrace not only inevitable accidents arising from tempests, floods, earthquakes and other dangers happening without the intervention of man, but also those caused by collisions, fires, pirates and other occurrences, to the happening of which human agency directly contributes.

Although this case indicates that perils arising from human agency may be included in the phrase "perils of the seas" when used in an insurance policy, I think that the phrase "other perils usually insured against by marine insurance," when used in the statute, must be considered as referring to the other perils which are usually stated in marine insurance policies, as the perils from men of war, fire, enemies, pirates, rovers, thieves, jettison, letters of mart and countermart and reprisals, takings at sea, arrests, restraints and detainments of all kings, princes and people, of what nation, condition or quality soever, and barratry of the master and mariners.

The phrase "including risks of inland navigation and transportation" was probably added to make clear the right of a marine insurance company to make a policy upon goods immediately prior or subsequent to marine shipment when the transportation or situation of the goods on land could be considered as part of the marine voyage.

Marshall, in his book on marine insurance, published in 1865 (part I., chapter I., page 2), defines it as follows: —

> Marine insurance is that which is applied to maritime commerce, and is made for the protection of persons having an interest in ships or goods on board from the loss or damage which may happen to them from the perils of the sea during a certain voyage or a fixed period of time.

I am informed by you that it has been customary for a number of years for marine insurance companies to make policies upon property in transit over land, and having no connection with any marine voyage, and also to make policies upon the liability of common carriers to the owners of property carried by them, and upon a number of other sorts of property and liability having no reference to marine transportation.

In the absence of any judicial determination, however, I do not think that the acts of the insurance companies themselves can be used to enlarge the plain meaning of the words in the statute, which give marine companies the right to make insurance covering only the perils of the seas and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance, including risks of inland navigation and transportation.

This construction is strengthened by the fact that R. L., c. 118, § 29, expressly authorizes companies to be formed for the purpose of effecting eleven kinds of insurance other than marine, of which one is — > against loss or damage to property arising from accidents to elevators, bicycles and vehicles, except rolling stock of railways.

The obvious intention of the Legislature was to provide distinct classes of insurance companies for making distinct forms of policies, and it limited the rights of each class of company by providing at the end of the section that: —

> No such corporation shall transact any business other than that specified in its charter or agreement of association.

I am of opinion, therefore, that marine insurance companies in Massachusetts are not authorized to issue policies insuring an automobile owner against loss and liability caused by the collision of his automobile with another object.

Savings Banks — Legal Investments — Bonds of a Railroad Corporation having no Completed Roadbed.

A railroad company incorporated in the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, under an act containing the provision, among others, that if such company fails to complete the location, lay-out and construction of its railroad on or before May 15, 1909, the charter shall be void and of no effect, which has filed its location and acquired by condemnation the land upon which to build its road, but has not otherwise complied with the conditions of its charter, and has constructed no physical railroad, is not a railroad company whose road is located wholly or in part in one of the New England States within the meaning of R. L., c. 113, § 26, cl. 3, par. b, which provides that savings banks may invest "in the first mortgage bonds of a railroad company incorporated in any of the New England states and whose road is located wholly or in part in the same."

APRIL 3, 1906.

Hon. WARREN E. LOCKE, Chairman, Commissioners of Savings Banks.

DEAR SIR: — My opinion is requested by you as to whether the Providence Terminal Company is a railroad company within the meaning of R. L., c. 113, § 26, cl. 3, par. b. This section provides that savings banks may invest: —

In the first mortgage bonds of a railroad company incorporated in any of the New England states and whose road is located wholly or in part in the same, guaranteed by a railroad company described in the preceding paragraph which is in possession of and is operating its own road.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company is undoubtedly "a railroad described in the preceding paragraph," and in possession of and operating its own road; so that the only question is whether the Providence Terminal Company is "a railroad company incorporated in one of the New England states and whose road is located wholly or in part in the same."

The company was chartered by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, passed April 13, 1904, and entitled "An Act in amendment of and in addition to an act entitled 'An Act to incorporate the New York, Providence and Boston and Old Colony Railroad Terminal Company,' passed by the General Assembly at its May session, A.D. 1891."

Section 1 provides that: —

The name of the New York, Providence and Boston and Old Colony Railroad Terminal Company, created by an act passed at the May session, A.D. 1891, is hereby changed to "The Providence Terminal Company."

Section 3 provides: —

Said company is hereby authorized and empowered to locate, lay out, construct, maintain, and operate, by steam or other power, a railroad of one or more tracks from a connection with the tracks operated by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, at some point near the Union Station in the city of Providence, thence crossing over Canal street and North Main street, keeping at least fifty feet north of the northeasterly corner of North Main street and Thomas street, and at least eighty feet north of the northwesterly corner of Thomas street and Benefit street, and running easterly, by a tunnel and the approaches thereto, to a point on the westerly bank of the Seekonk river between Red Bridge and Washington Bridge, thence easterly across said Seekonk river to connections with the tracks of the Providence and Worcester Railroad Company and of the Boston and Providence Railroad Corporation, and for this purpose said company may acquire a location not exceeding one hundred feet in width between said points of connection, and as much greater width at said points of connection as may be required to make such connections by proper curves and approaches, and said company may construct, maintain, and operate a bridge of one or more tracks across said river, with a suitable draw therein not less than ninety feet in the clear, so as not unnecessarily to obstruct navigation, and subject to the approval of the secretary of war.

Section 5 provides: —

Said company is hereby authorized and empowered to acquire, by condemnation, from time to time, such lands, and such interests and estates in lands, as said company may from time to time take under the authority of this act, in the manner hereinafter provided. . . .

From these sections it appears that the name of the Terminal Company was originally the New York, Providence & Boston & Old Colony Railroad Terminal Company; that it is empowered to locate, lay out, construct, maintain and operate, by steam or other power, a railroad; and to acquire property by condemnation. In other words, it is apparently clothed with the rights, and presumably the liabilities, of a public-service railroad corporation. Obviously, it is a railroad company, unless the omission of the word "railroad" from its name prevents its becoming such a corporation. I do not think that this omission has such an effect.

The term "railroad" has been broadly interpreted in other statutes of the Commonwealth. Under St. 1887, c. 270, providing for employers' liability "by reason of the negligence of any person in the service of an employer who has the charge or control of any signal, switch, locomotive engine or train upon a railroad," it has been held that a short-line track built and operated by a city for the sole purpose of transporting gravel from one part of its water works to another was a railroad.

In Coughlan v. Cambridge, 166 Mass. 268, on p. 276, the court said: —

> The track was a short and temporary affair, and the use of it and of the locomotive and cars was to continue only for a short time; but we think that it was a railroad within the meaning of the act.

From the powers given the Terminal Company and from the definition given to the term "railroad" in this State, I am of opinion that the company is a railroad within the meaning of the statute relating to savings bank investments.

But section 21 of the act of incorporation of the Providence Terminal Company provides that: —

> If said company shall fail to begin the location, lay-out, and construction of its said railroad as provided by section 3 of this act on or before May 15th, A.D. 1906, and complete the same on or before May 15th, A.D. 1909, this act shall be void and of no effect, but the right of any person to recover damages by reason of anything theretofore done by said company shall in no wise be impaired.

The location of the railroad has been filed and the necessary proceedings in court taken, so that it has acquired by condemnation the land upon which to build the road, and it has issued bonds secured by first mortgage upon its terminals, railroad and franchise, which are guaranteed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, but until the road is completed the company has not an indefeasible charter, but merely one that is subject to being rendered void in 1909. I also think that in the phrase "whose road is located wholly or in part in the same," in R. L., c. 113, § 26, cl. 3, par. b, the words "whose road is located" must be interpreted to refer to a physical roadbed completely constructed, and not to a location in the narrow sense of a place dedicated to the easement of the railroad and identified either by being plotted out on a map or by stakes driven in the ground. The purpose of the act itself leads inevitably to this conclusion. That purpose being to limit the field of investment to obligations secured in the most thorough manner, it can hardly be fulfilled if the act is so construed as to permit a company, having nothing but a charter and the condemnation of the land upon which to build the road, to mortgage these scanty assets and sell its bonds to savings banks.

Upon the whole, therefore, although the matter is not free from doubt, and might bear a technical construction the other way, I am of opinion that though the Providence Terminal Company is a railroad company within the meaning of the act, its first mortgage bonds, guaranteed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, are not legal investments for savings banks in Massachusetts, and will not be so until the construction of the roadbed is completed, and then only if it was begun before May 15, 1906, and finished before May 15, 1909.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Insurance — Rebate — Commission on Policy on Life of Officer or Agent of Company.

R. L., c. 118, § 68, providing in part that no life insurance company doing business in this Commonwealth, nor any agent thereof, shall "pay or allow, or offer to pay or allow as inducement to insurance, any rebate of premium payable on the policy, . . ." prohibits the allowance by any such company to its agent of any commission on the premium on a policy upon the life of such agent, or the allowance to an officer of such company of any rebate of or commission on the premium on a policy upon the life of such officer.

APRIL 6, 1906.

Hon. FREDERICK L. CUTTING, Insurance Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: — You ask the two following questions relative to R. L., c. 118, § 68: —

1. If it is a violation of said statute for a life insurance company, duly authorized to transact the business of life insurance in this Commonwealth, to allow its agent a commission on the premium on a policy on his own life?

2. If it is a violation of said statute for such a company to pay or allow an officer of the company a rebate of or a commission on the premium on a policy on his own life?

R. L., c. 118, § 68, is as follows: —

No life insurance company doing business in this commonwealth shall make or permit any distinction or discrimination in favor of individuals between insurants of the same class and equal expectation of life in the amount or payment of premiums or rates charged for policies of life or endowment insurance, or in the dividends or other benefits payable thereon, or in any other of the terms and conditions of the contracts it makes; nor shall any such company or any agent thereof make any contract of insurance, or agreement as to such contract, other than as plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon; nor shall any such company or agent pay or allow, or offer to pay or allow as inducement to insurance, any rebate of premium payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefit to accrue thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement not specified in the policy contract of insurance.

The other sections of the statute which bear upon these questions are sections 87, 89 and 111. Section 87 provides: —

Every domestic insurance company shall file with the insurance commissioner the name and residence of each person it appoints or employs to act as its agent in this commonwealth; and whoever shall assume to act as such agent, or, unless a licensed broker, shall in any manner for compensation aid in negotiating contracts of insurance on behalf of such corporation for a person other than himself, prior to the filing of such notice of appointment, shall be subject to the penalties of section one hundred and eleven.

I am of opinion that both questions should be answered in the affirmative. The object of section 68 is, obviously, to prevent any insurant from obtaining in any way, directly or indirectly, an advantage over any other insurant of the same class. The object of section 87 is to permit registered agents and licensed brokers, and no others, to negotiate contracts of insurance for persons other than themselves. I do not think the phrase "for a person other than himself" was meant by the Legislature to be joined with the phrase "in any manner for compensation" in such a way as to indicate that a person could negotiate a contract for himself for compensation. The object of the section, as a whole, was, in my opinion, to exempt persons from liability who either negotiate contracts of insurance for themselves or for others, but gratuitously.

I think this interpretation is borne out by the language of section 89, where it is provided that "an officer of a company or a person appointed as its agent for that purpose, or acting without compensation," may negotiate insurance. The words in this section, "or acting without compensation," to make sense must qualify the word "person," i.e., so as to read, "a person appointed as its agent or acting without compensation may," etc. These provisions indicate, to my mind, that it is perfectly proper under any circumstances for an officer of a domestic insurance company, or for a person appointed as its agent, or for a duly licensed broker, or for a person acting for himself solely, or for a person acting for others without compensation, to negotiate insurance, provided that they do not violate section 68 with respect to giving the person insured some special favor or advantage. The fact that all these persons may lawfully negotiate insurance does not give them the right to negotiate insurance in any manner in which the company itself could not negotiate.

I think it may be assumed that section 68, as well as the other sections above referred to, was enacted at a time when life insurance in Massachusetts was carried on as it is to-day, by the active solicitation of persons to be insured by agents and brokers; and I think it may further be assumed that the Legislature knew that the ordinary method of paying for such work was by commissions upon the business done by such agents and brokers.

The question, therefore, narrows itself to this: Is the granting of the customary commission to an agent or an officer of a corporation for securing a policy on his own life a rebate paid or allowed as an inducement to insurance? I am of opinion that it is. It is certainly a rebate paid or allowed, because it is, though in the form of a commission, an allowance to the person insured, given for no services rendered. It can hardly be maintained that it is a service rendered to persuade one's self to take out insurance in one's own company. I think it is, further, a payment or allowance as an inducement to insurance. To test this, let us suppose that the agent of a company desired insurance in a first-class company. If he went to the agent of some other company he would pay the ordinary premium and the other agent would get the commission. If he said to the other agent, "I will insure myself in your company through you if you will insure yourself in my company through me, and we will thereby each get a commission," I believe that such a contract would be unlawful under section 68, because it would amount to some special inducement to insurance, paid or offered to each.

Can the agent, then, accomplish this same result by writing his own insurance himself? In other words, can he stand in the dual position of the insurant and the person negotiating the contract? I am of opinion that he cannot, and that when he applies to the company for a policy he stands as a would-be insurant and must be treated as such, and that he cannot be benefited by the payment or allowance to him of any sum, whether it is in terms a commission or a rebate.

WILLIAM F. SAWYER, Esq., Secretary, Board of Registration in Pharmacy.

DEAR SIR: — In your letter dated May 24 you request my opinion upon the following question: —

A certificate having been issued to a registered pharmacist previous to May 1, 1906, in accordance with section 23, chapter 100, and the owner of such certificate having been refused a sixth-class license, can the owner of said certificate sell intoxicating liquor on a physician's prescription in accordance with chapter 281 of the Acts of 1906, without obtaining another certificate applicable to said chapter 281, Acts of 1906?

In reply to your inquiry I beg to say that in my opinion a registered pharmacist who holds a certificate issued in accordance with the provisions of section 23 of chapter 100 of the Revised Laws, before St. 1906, c. 281, took effect, and who has not received a sixth-class license, is not authorized to sell intoxicating liquor on a physician's prescription in accordance with chapter 281 of the Acts of 1906 without obtaining another certificate, issued in accordance with the provisions of section 2 of chapter 281 of the Acts of 1906.

Sealer of Weights and Measures — Inspection — Mechanical Devices for Measuring Value of Commodity weighed.

The duty of the Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures, and of sealers of weights and measures appointed in the several cities and towns under the provisions of R. L., c. 62, § 18, is confined to a determination of the accuracy of such appliances as register weights and dry or liquid measures, and does not require an examination of such mechanical devices as purport to register the value of the commodity weighed or measured.

JUNE 14, 1906.

Hon. ARTHUR B. CHAPIN, Treasurer and Receiver-General and Sealer of Weights and Measures.

DEAR SIR: — Your inquiry of June 11 requires my opinion upon the question whether or not the Sealer of Weights and Measures has authority to seal and test computations "on barrel-shaped scales, so called, which register the price of the amount purchased as well as the weight in pounds and ounces."

I am advised that the scales in question are known as "computing scales," and display the price of the article weighed upon the platform as well as the weight of such article.

R. L., c. 62, § 8, provides for the appointment of a Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures, whose duty, as determined by section 9, is to "try, adjust and seal the standard weights, measures and balances of every city and town at least once in five years. . . . He may also inspect the weights, measures and balances of any person which are used for sealing any goods, wares, merchandise or other commodity, or for public weighing in any city or town, and if he finds them inaccurate he shall forthwith inform the mayor or selectmen who shall cause the provisions of this chapter to be enforced."

Section 10 provides that the deputy "shall keep a record in detail of the places visited, and of the weights, measures and balances tested by him. . . ."

A consideration of the provisions of this chapter and of the duties imposed upon the Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures, as well as upon sealers of weights and measures appointed in the various cities or towns in accordance with the requirements of such statute, shows conclusively that the responsibility of such officers is confined to the determination of the accuracy of appliances for registering weights and measures as enumerated in section 6 relating exclusively to quantity, and that there is no authority to permit the trial, adjustment and sealing of such appliances as register the pecuniary value of any article weighed.

The duty and responsibility of the officers in the premises are, therefore, to determine only the accuracy of such appliances as register weights and dry or liquid measures, and do not extend to such mechanical devices as purport to register the value of the commodity weighed.

Explosives — Storage — "Building" — Iron Tank for keeping Gasolene.

The word "building" as used in St. 1904, c. 370, § 3, as amended by St. 1905, c. 280, providing that no building shall be erected or used in any city or town for the keeping, storage, manufacture or sale of gunpowder and certain other explosives without a license from the mayor and aldermen of a city or the selectmen of a town, a permit from the Chief of the District Police, or some person designated by him, applies to and includes an iron tank, closed except by pipe connections, and placed upon an uncovered brick foundation, designed and intended as a "container" for gasolene, and would apply to and include such a structure, even if under ground, from which the liquid is taken by means of a pump.

JUNE 20, 1906.

JOSEPH E. SHAW, Esq., Chief, Massachusetts District Police.

DEAR SIR: — Replying to your letter of the 12th, in which you ask for my opinion as to whether the word "building," as used in section 3 of chapter 370 of the Acts of 1904, as amended by chapter 280 of the Acts of 1905, applies to or includes an iron tank closed except by pipe connections and placed upon a brick foundation uncovered, and intended as a "container" for gasolene to be kept for sale, I have to say that in my opinion it does so apply. Considering the nature of the articles to be stored, namely, crude petroleum or any of its products, or other inflammable fluids, and the likelihood that they would be stored in a tank, so called, I think the Legislature intended to include such a structure in the word "building;" otherwise, a structure of any size might be erected for the purpose of the storage of petroleum or other inflammable fluids, without any regulations applying thereto.

I am also of opinion that the word "building" would cover a tank similarly constructed, for a similar purpose, if underground, and the liquid pumped therefrom.

Railroad Corporations — Acquisition and Control of Stock and Bonds of Domestic Street Railway Companies — Control of Domestic Street Railway Companies — Leasing — Forfeiture of Charter.

House Bill No. 1358, providing in section 1 that "it shall be unlawful for a railroad corporation operating a railroad in this Commonwealth to acquire, own or hold, directly or indirectly, the stock or bonds of any street railway company having a location in any city or town in this Commonwealth, or to lease the franchise and property of any such street railway," and in section 2, that "upon petition of the attorney-general of the Commonwealth to the supreme court in equity . . . a receiver shall be appointed who shall take possession and control of the property of any street railway" included in section 1, with further provision in section 4 for forfeiture of the charter of such company, after due notice and hearing, is ineffective to prevent the purchase of the stock of a domestic street railway by a railroad corporation chartered in another State and duly authorized thereto by the laws of that State.

Such bill prohibits the leasing of the franchise of a domestic street railway company by a railroad corporation operating a steam railroad within the Commonwealth.

By reason of the provision for the dissolution of the charter of a domestic street railway company if its stock or bonds are owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by a railroad corporation operating a steam railroad within the Commonwealth, such bill would prevent such acquisition and control.

JUNE 21, 1906.

To the Hon. JOHN N. COLE, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

SIR: — I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of an order adopted by the House of Representatives on the nineteenth day of June, requiring the opinion of the Attorney-General upon certain questions regarding House Bill No. 1358, entitled "An Act relative to Investments by Railroad Corporations in Street Railway Companies."

The bill submitted to me is in form as follows: —

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for a railroad corporation operating a railroad in this Commonwealth to acquire, own or hold, directly or indirectly, the stock or bonds of any street railway company having a location in any city or town in this Commonwealth, or to lease the franchise and property of any such street railway company, or to become an associate in the formation of a company for the purpose of constructing, operating and maintaining such a street railway.

SECTION 2. Any railroad corporation operating a railroad in this Commonwealth which now owns, directly or indirectly, stocks or bonds of a street railway company having a location in any city or town in this Commonwealth is hereby requested to sell and dispose of said stock or bonds within one year from the time this bill becomes a law.

SECTION 3. Upon the petition of the attorney-general of the Commonwealth to the supreme court in equity and such notice as said court may order to parties in interest, a receiver shall be appointed who shall take possession and control of the property of any street railway company having a location in a city or town in this Commonwealth the capital stock or bonds of which are believed to be owned or controlled by any railroad corporation operating a railroad in this Commonwealth.

SECTION 4. After a hearing upon said petition, if the court shall find that the capital stock or any part thereof or bonds or any part thereof of any street railway company having a location in the Commonwealth is held directly or indirectly by any railroad corporation operating a railroad in the Commonwealth, or that the franchise of any street railway company is held by lease by any railroad corporation operating a railroad in this Commonwealth, the court shall enter a decree that the charter and franchise of such street railway company are forfeited and that its offices be closed, and shall direct said receiver to sell and dispose of the property and franchise of said street railway company and apply the funds received from such sale to the payment of debts and liabilities of such street railway company in accordance with the provisions of the statutes of the Commonwealth applicable to insolvent debtors.

SECTION 5. After the payment of debts and liabilities of such street railway company and the payment of expenses of said receivership the remaining surplus, if any there be, shall be ordered to be distributed as a dividend to stockholders of said street railway company.

SECTION 6. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

The first inquiry presented by the honorable House of Representatives is "whether the bill annexed is legally sufficient to prevent the purchase of the stock of street railway companies having a location in this Commonwealth by railroad corporations operating steam railroads in this Commonwealth."

Section 1 of the bill in terms forbids the purchase by a railroad corporation operating a steam railroad within the Commonwealth of the stock of any street railway company having a location therein. It is, however, to be observed that in the case of a railroad corporation chartered by this Commonwealth such acquisition of stock is already prohibited by the provision of R. L., c. 111, § 77, that: —

No railroad corporation, unless authorized by the general court or by the provisions of the following five sections, shall directly or indirectly subscribe for, take or hold the stock or bonds of or guarantee the bonds or dividends of any other corporation;

but it is doubtful if either of these statutes can effectually prevent a transaction of the character described when such transaction is the act of a corporation chartered in another State, and done in and under the lawful authority of that State. If, therefore, House Bill No. 1358 is to be construed as applicable as well to corporations chartered elsewhere as to those chartered by the Commonwealth, in my opinion it is ineffective to prevent the purchase of the stock of a domestic street railway company by a railroad corporation chartered in another State and duly authorized thereto by the laws of that State.

To the second inquiry of the honorable House of Representatives, "whether the bill annexed is legally sufficient to prevent the leasing of the franchise of street railways having a location in any city or town in this Commonwealth by railroad corporations operating steam railroads in this Commonwealth," I reply that the bill prohibits the leasing of the franchises of domestic street railways by railroad corporations operating steam railroads within the Commonwealth, but I ought to say that the leasing of the franchise of a domestic street railway company by a railroad corporation is now, in my opinion, without authority in law.

In the third inquiry of the honorable House of Representatives my opinion is sought upon the question "whether the bill annexed prevents the control, directly or indirectly, of street railways having a location in any city or town in this Commonwealth by railroad corporations operating steam railroads in this Commonwealth." I am of opinion that by reason of the provisions contained in sections 3 and 4, providing for the dissolution of a domestic street railway corporation whenever the stock of such corporation or any part thereof shall be found to be directly or indirectly owned or controlled by a railroad corporation operating a steam railroad within the Commonwealth, the proposed bill would prevent such ownership and control.

The fourth inquiry is as follows: "If in the opinion of the Attorney-General the bill annexed fails to prevent the ownership of the stock of said street railway companies, or the leasing of the franchise of said street railway companies, and, in short, the control, directly or indirectly, of said street railway companies by railroad corporations operating street railways in this Commonwealth, what amendments he would suggest to accomplish the end which this bill is intended to accomplish."

As already pointed out, House Bill No. 1358, if passed, would probably prevent the ownership of the stock of street railway companies, but the form of the same can be improved, and I have the honor to advise the honorable House of Representatives that in my opinion the substance and purpose of the same can be accomplished so far as may be by the passage of an act in substance as follows: —

If a foreign corporation acquires, owns or controls, directly or indirectly, capital stock, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of any domestic street railway company having a location in any city or town in this Commonwealth, unless authorized so to do by the laws of this Commonwealth, the supreme judicial court shall have jurisdiction in equity in its discretion to dissolve such domestic street railway company, and the attorney-general shall institute proceedings for such dissolution and for the proper disposition of the assets of such company.

Very truly yours,

Cities or Towns — Massachusetts Hospital for Feeble-minded — Liability for Support of Inmates — Notice.

R. L., c. 85, § 20, providing that "a city or town in which an inmate of the state hospital is found to have a legal settlement shall be liable to the commonwealth in like manner as one town is liable to another in like cases," does not limit the liability of such city or town to a period of three months next preceding the date of notice, as is the case between towns under R. L., c. 81, § 17, and such liability is not affected by want of notice.

JULY 18, 1906.

J. F. LEWIS, M.D., Superintendent of State Adult Poor.

DEAR SIR: — You request my opinion upon the claim made by the Commonwealth against the town of Winthrop for the support of Catherine F. Ryan, who was committed to the School for the Feeble-minded on March 12, 1905, by a Suffolk court. You say that there was some difficulty in obtaining her history, and that you were not justified in claiming settlement in the town of Winthrop until Nov. 22, 1905. Denial of settlement was made December 4, and, later, settlement was acknowledged and the school sent a bill to the town, which covered the whole period from the date of commitment, March 12, 1905. The town of Winthrop has taken the position that, under R. L., c. 85, § 20, it is not responsible for the charges for a period more than three months prior to the first notice given to it, which was on Nov. 22, 1905. The question is whether this contention of the town is sound.

The provision under which towns are liable for the support of settled inmates of the Massachusetts School for the Feeble-minded is found in R. L., c. 87, § 120, which provides as follows: —

The charges for the support of each inmate in the custodial department of said school shall be three dollars and twenty-five cents a week, and shall be paid quarterly. Such charges for those not having known settlements in the commonwealth shall, after approval by the state board of insanity, be paid by the commonwealth, and may afterward be recovered by the treasurer and receiver general of such inmates, if of sufficient ability, or of any person or kindred bound by law to maintain them, or of the place of their settlement, if subsequently ascertained. . . .

The facts of this case bring it directly within this provision of law. This is in effect similar to the section for the recovery of the charges for the support of insane persons in the various insane hospitals, which is found in R. L., c. 87, § 78. In neither of these sections is there any suggestion that the provision of R. L., c. 81, § 17, that as between towns the time for which recovery may be had is limited to three months next preceding the date of notice, are applicable to the Commonwealth.

The section upon which the town relies is R. L., c. 85, § 20, which is as follows: —

A city or town in which an inmate of the state hospital is found to have a legal settlement shall be liable to the commonwealth for his support in like manner as one town is liable to another in like cases; and, in such case, the state board of charity shall adopt such measures relative to notice, removal of a pauper and recovery of expenses as are prescribed for towns in like cases.

This provision refers to the charges for the support of paupers at the State hospitals, and has no reference whatsoever to the charges for the support at the insane hospitals or at the school for the feeble-minded.

The case of Adams v. The Inhabitants of Ipswich, 116 Mass. 570, is conclusive of the present question. That was a case in which the Treasurer of the Commonwealth brought suit for the support of an insane pauper committed to the Northampton Lunatic Hospital. The town set up the defence that there had been no notice to it under the statute. The court said: —

The right of recovery in behalf of the commonwealth is not governed by the provisions regulating claims between different towns. It is not limited by reason of want of notice.

At this time the provisions of G. S., c. 71, § 49, were in force, and were in effect the same as R. L., c. 85, § 20, upon which the town of Winthrop relies now.

Consequently, there can be no question but that the town is liable for the full amount claimed from the date of commitment.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Massachusetts Highway Commission — Telegraph, Telephone and Electric Light Poles — Original Locations.

The Massachusetts Highway Commission have no jurisdiction to grant original locations for telephone, telegraph or electric light poles independently of the local board, which, under the provisions of St. 1906, c. 117, are constituted the tribunals for that purpose.

JULY 18, 1906.

A. B. FLETCHER, Esq., Secretary, Massachusetts Highway Commission.

DEAR SIR: — The Massachusetts Highway Commission request my opinion upon the question of their jurisdiction in the matter of granting locations for lines of telephone, telegraph or electric light poles on State highways.

R. L., c. 122, § 2, as amended by Acts of 1903, c. 237, and Acts of 1906, c. 117, is as follows: —

The mayor and aldermen of a city or the selectmen of a town through which the lines of a company are to pass shall give the company a writing specifying where the poles may be located, the kind of poles, the height at which, and the places where, the wires may run. Any company, except street railway companies, desiring permission to erect poles, piers, abutments or other fixtures upon or along any public way shall, in writing, petition the said mayor and aldermen or selectmen therefor. A public hearing shall be held on such petition, and written notices of the time and place at which such hearing will be held shall be mailed at least three days before said hearing, by the clerk of the city or the selectmen of the town in which the petition for locations has been made, to the owners of real estate along the ways or parts of ways upon which it is proposed to construct said line, as determined by the last preceding assessment for taxation. The clerk of the city or the selectmen of the town shall endorse upon the order or specification of locations granted, his or their certificate that notices were sent and a hearing held as herein provided, and no such order or specification shall be valid without such certificate. After the erection of the lines the mayor and aldermen or selectmen may, after giving the company or its agents an opportunity to be heard, or upon petition of the company without hearing or notice, direct any alteration in the location or erection of the poles, piers or abutments, and in the height of the wires; and no permit shall be required for renewing, repairing or replacing poles, piers, abutments or other fixtures once erected under the provisions of law. Such certificates, specifications and decisions shall be recorded in the records of the city or town.

R. L., c. 47, which relates to State highways, contains no specific provision dealing with the location of telegraph, telephone or electric light poles on State highways. There are two sections which refer to the jurisdiction of the State Highway Commission, sections 11 and 21.

Section 11 provides: —

Said commission shall keep all state highways reasonably clear of brush, shall cause suitable shade trees to be planted thereon if practicable, and may establish and maintain watering troughs upon said highways. No opening shall be made in any such highway nor shall any structure be placed thereon, nor shall any structure which has been placed thereon be changed or renewed, except in accordance with a permit from the commission, which shall exercise complete and permanent control over such highways.

Section 21 provides: —

No state highway shall be dug up for laying or placing pipes, sewers, poles, wires or railways or for other purposes, and no tree shall be planted or removed or obstruction placed thereon, without the written permit of the highway commission, and then only in accordance with the regulations of said commission; and the work shall be done under the supervision and to the satisfaction of said commission, and the entire expense of replacing the highway in as good condition as before shall be paid by the persons to whom the permit was given or by whom the work was done; but a city or town may dig up such state highway without such approval of the highway commission in case of immediate necessity; but in such cases it shall be forthwith replaced in as good condition as before at the expense of the city or town. Said commission shall give suitable names to the state highways, and may change the name of any way which becomes a part of a state highway. They shall erect suitable guide posts at convenient points along state highways.

In a brief filed by counsel for the telegraph company, and annexed to the communication submitted by the State Highway Commission, it is contended that the use of the words "shall exercise complete and permanent control over such highways" is sufficient to vest in the commission the right and power to grant locations for telegraph or telephone poles upon State highways, independently of any action upon the part of the mayor and aldermen in the case of cities or of boards of selectmen in the case of towns.

I am of opinion, however, that a consideration of section 21, above quoted, shows conclusively that such was not the purpose of the Legislature and is not the effect of section 11. Section 21 clearly contemplates that the State Highway Commission, in the matter of the placing of pipes, sewers, poles or wires, shall act only in a supervisory capacity, and shall have no authority to grant original locations for telegraph or telephone poles independently of the local boards which are constituted the tribunals for that purpose under the provisions of St. 1906, c. 117. (See, also, 1 Op. Attys.-Gen. 317.) It follows, therefore, that the Massachusetts Highway Commission have no authority or jurisdiction to grant original locations for telephone, telegraph or electric light poles.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Hours of Labor — Insane Hospital — Day's Work — Half-holiday — Sunday Employment — Work by the Hour — Appropriations.

St. 1906, c. 517, § 1, providing, in part, that "eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics now or hereafter employed by the Commonwealth, . . . but in cases where a Saturday half-holiday is given the hours of labor upon the other working days of the week may be increased sufficiently to make a total of forty-eight hours for the week's work," does not require a nine-hour wage, and does not prohibit the employment of laborers, workmen and mechanics by the Commonwealth for more than eight hours a day, when the contract for such employment is by the hour.

Such statute provides for an eight-hour day upon Sunday as well as upon other days of the week for persons properly employed upon that day, and does not restrict the employment of persons required to work seven days a week to forty-eight hours.

If a half-holiday is given, it must be a Saturday half-holiday.

If the appropriations for the maintenance of the Worcester Insane Hospital are fixed for the year, the trustees of such hospital are not authorized to exceed the same to comply with the provisions of such chapter.

JULY 26, 1906.

T. H. GAGE, Jr., Esq., Trustee of the Worcester Insane Hospital.

DEAR SIR: — In your letter dated July 25, you state that the trustees of the Worcester Insane Hospital desire my opinion in regard to certain aspects of the so-called eight-hour law, passed at the last session of the Legislature.

This act is chapter 517 of the Acts of 1906, and provides in its first section that: —

Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics now or hereafter employed, by or on behalf of the Commonwealth, or of any county therein, or of any city or town which has accepted the provisions of section twenty of chapter one hundred and six of the Revised Laws; but in cases where a Saturday half-holiday is given the hours of labor upon the other working days of the week may be increased sufficiently to make a total of forty-eight hours for the week's work.

To your questions I reply as follows: —

1. Does the eight-hour law carry with it a nine-hour wage?

It does not require a nine-hour wage.

2. Can laborers, workmen and mechanics in State institutions work more than eight hours per day, and if so, under what conditions?

In my opinion, laborers, workmen and mechanics working in State institutions may, if employed by State officials by the hour, work more than eight hours a day. St. 1906, c. 517, § 1, is similar in terms to the federal act of June 25, 1868 (15 Stat. 77), Rev. Sts., § 3738, which provides that "eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics who may be employed by or on behalf of the government of the United States."

In the case of United States v. Martin, 94 U. S. 400, the United States Supreme Court had this act under consideration, and, speaking by Mr. Justice Hunt, said: —

This was a direction by Congress to the officers and agents of the United States, establishing the principle to be observed in the labor of those engaged in its service. It prescribed the length of time which should amount to a day's work, when no special agreement was made upon the subject. There are several things which the act does not regulate, which it may be worth while to notice.

First. — It does not establish the price to be paid for a day's work. . . .

Second. — The statute does not provide that the employer and the laborer may not agree with each other as to what time shall constitute a day's work. . . .

We regard the statute chiefly as in the nature of a direction from a principal to his agent, that eight hours is deemed to be a proper length of time for a day's labor, and that his contracts shall be based upon that theory. . . .

It is to be noticed that since this decision an act has been passed (Act of Aug. 1, 1892, chapter 352, 27 Stat. 340) relating to hours of labor of laborers and mechanics employed upon public works of the United States and of the District of Columbia, which expressly provides that it shall be unlawful to require or permit a laborer or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any calendar day.

The Massachusetts statute regulating the hours of labor has been construed by two of my predecessors. St. 1890, c. 375, provided that: —

> Nine hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics now employed or who may be employed by or on behalf of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or any city or town therein; and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

On April 24, 1891, the Hon. Albert E. Pillsbury (1 Op. Attys.-Gen., 10), then Attorney-General, advised the Governor that this statute did not prohibit the employment of labor in State institutions for more than nine hours a day, if such labor was contracted for and paid for by the hour.

By St. 1891, c. 350, this act was amended so as to apply to counties. By St. 1893, c. 406, it was provided: —

> All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the Commonwealth requiring the employment of manual labor shall provide that persons employed in the performance of such labor under any such contract shall not be required to work more than nine hours in each day, and that said nine hours shall constitute a day's work.

In St. 1894, c. 508, §§ 7 and 8, the provisions of St. 1890, c. 375, as amended, and St. 1893, c. 406, were substantially re-enacted. This act also provided a penalty for the violation of its provisions.

St. 1899, c. 344, § 1, provided that eight hours should constitute a day's work for laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by a city or town, and section 3 of that chapter, amended by St. 1900, c. 357, provided that this act should take effect only upon its acceptance by the city or town.

On May 14, 1900, the Hon. Hosea M. Knowlton, then Attorney-General, in an opinion, said: —

> St. 1894, c. 508, § 7, which provides that "Nine hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers," etc., refers only to employment by the day. It does not and is not intended to prohibit the employment of labor by the hour, if the laborer is willing to be so employed.

If a laborer is told that he can only be employed upon his agreement to work more than nine hours per day at a given rate per hour, and accepts the employment upon such terms, such employment is an evasion of the law, but not, in my judgment, a violation of it. Being a penal law, it is to be construed strictly. A person so employed, however powerful the inducement, is, nevertheless, in contemplation of law, working voluntarily, and the case, so far as the statute is concerned, is the same as though no such threat were held out to him. Employment by the hour is not within the statute.

St. 1894, c. 508, §§ 7 and 8, and St. 1899, c. 344, as amended, appear as R. L., c. 106, §§ 19, 20 and 21, without substantial changes, and the same chapter contains a provision for penalty.

The present statute reduces the number of hours in a day's work for the Commonwealth or a county from nine to eight, with a provision that the number of hours may be increased if a Saturday half-holiday is given; otherwise, however, the law is not materially changed, and the statements quoted above from the opinion of my predecessor are, it seems to me, applicable to the law as it now stands, if the word "eight" be substituted for the word "nine."

3. What application has the act to laborers, workmen and mechanics whose duties ordinarily call for Sunday work?

The statute provides for an eight-hour day on Sunday as well as on other days of the week for persons properly employed on that day as well as on other days of the week.

4. In cases where the ordinary duties of laborers, workmen and mechanics require them to work seven days a week, does the law restrict their employment to a total of forty-eight hours, or does fifty-six hours in such cases constitute a week's work?

The law does not restrict the employment of persons required to work seven days a week to a total of forty-eight hours.

5. If a half-holiday is given, must it be a Saturday half-holiday?

Yes; if the half day is to be made up on other working days.

6. If the appropriations for the maintenance of institutions are fixed for the year, shall we be warranted in overrunning the same to comply with the provisions of the eight-hour law?

No.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Governor — Registered Bonds of the Commonwealth — Signature — Rubber Stamp.

The Governor may affix his signature to registered bonds issued by the Commonwealth by means of a rubber stamp, provided such stamp is retained in his possession and applied by him, or, in his presence, by some one authorized by him to make such application.

JULY 31, 1906.

Hon. ARTHUR B. CHAPIN, Treasurer and Receiver-General.

DEAR SIR: — Replying to your letter of the 23d, in which you ask my opinion as to whether His Excellency the Governor can affix his name by a rubber stamp to registered bonds issued by the Commonwealth, or whether it is necessary for him to personally sign with his own hand, I have to say that in my opinion he may impress his name with a stamp instead of a pen, provided he keep the same in his possession and apply it himself or cause it to be applied in his presence. The Attorney-General of the United States, in an opinion (1 Op. Attys.-Gen. 670) to the President in reply to a similar question, decided "that the adoption and acknowledgment of a signature written by another makes it a man's own; that there will be great difficulty in maintaining the proposition as a legal one, that when the law required signing it means that it must be done with pen and ink; that a signature made with straw dipped in blood would be equally valid and obligatory; he may write his name in full or may write his initials or may print his initials with a pen; that pen may be made of a goose quill or of metal; and I see no legal objection to its being made in the form of a stamp or copper-plate. It is still his act; it flows from his assent, and is the evidence of that assent."

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Taxation — Exemption — "Farming Utensils" — Person.

Under the provisions of R. L., c. 12, § 5, cl. 11, exempting from taxation among other specified articles of property, the "farming utensils of every person," such exemption should in general be confined to implements, tools and utensils used by any person in the pursuit of agriculture.

As used in such statute, the word "person" does not include a corporation.

SEPT. 28, 1906.

Hon. WILLIAM D. T. TREFRY, Tax Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: — Replying to your request for an opinion as to exemption from taxation by local assessors of farming utensils of every person, under R. L., c. 12, § 5, cl. 11, a list of articles which have in some instances been construed as exempt having been furnished me, I am of opinion that you should adopt a somewhat arbitrary rule. In my opinion the following would be exempt: —

All hand tools for farming.
Plow, including "Riding Plow."
Harrow.
Cultivator.
Planter, geared and otherwise.
Mowing machine.
Tedder.
Horse rake.
Reaper, including reaper and binder.
Potato digger.
Ensilage cutter.
Spray pump, also tank.
Churn.
Wagon, where used principally for farm purposes.
Cart, where used principally for farm purposes.
Sled, where used principally for farm purposes.
Chains.
Manure spreader.

Upon the other hand, the following would not be exempt: —

Windmill, including pump.
Boiler (steam), also cooker.
Engine (steam), (gas), (portable), (stationary), (traction).
Power saw (for fire wood).
Fruit evaporator.
Cider mill and press.
Incubator.
Cream separator.
Cream cooler.
Honey extractor (centrifugal).
Carriage.
Wagon (other than farm wagon).
Cart (other than farm cart).
Sled (other than farm sled).
Sleigh.
Pung.
Harness (blankets, whips, robes).

I am of opinion that the word "person" as used in this statute does not include a corporation.

I find several decisions which hold that a wagon is a farm utensil; also, under 20 Kan. 555, that a McCormick Advance reaper and mower is a farming utensil.

It is difficult to define what would or would not be exempt, on principle, but it would seem that exemptions should be confined to the farming utensils, meaning all those implements, tools and utensils used in the pursuit of agriculture and husbandry.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Pauper Law — Settlement — Effect of Retroactive Statute upon Derivative Settlement.

Where the derivative settlement of a mother which was not fully acquired subsequent to May 1, 1860, and did not prevent the subsequent acquisition of a settlement in the same place, was defeated and lost by the retroactive provision of R. L., c. 80, § 6, the settlement of a daughter derived from that of the mother subsequent to May 1, 1860, is not lost or affected by the loss of the settlement of the mother.

SEPT. 28, 1906.

J. F. LEWIS, M.D., Superintendent, State Board of Charity.

DEAR SIR: — Replying to your request for an opinion as to whether the settlement of Amelia F. West was affected by the provisions of section 6 of chapter 80 of the Revised Laws, the material facts are as follows: —

Amelia F. West, born Dec. 25, 1862, at Tisbury, Mass., illegitimate, was committed to the Massachusetts School for Idiotic and Feeble-minded Youth Sept. 23, 1875, and has been an inmate of that institution since that time as a charge to the town of Tisbury. Her mother, Mary F. West, was born in 1820 in Richmond, Va., and came to Tisbury, Mass., when a child, and lived in that town continuously until her death, Oct. 17, 1894. She was married in Tisbury, Jan. 27, 1840, to Edward F. West, and lived with him until his death, June 7, 1854. Mary F. West did not, as the widow of said Edward F. West, after May 1, 1860, live any period of five years without receiving relief as a pauper.

R. L., c. 80, § 6 (St. 1898, c. 425, § 2), is as follows: —

Any settlement which was not fully acquired subsequent to the first day of May in the year eighteen hundred and sixty is hereby defeated and lost, unless such settlement prevented a subsequent acquisition of settlement in the same place; but if a settlement acquired by marriage is so defeated, the former settlement of the wife, if not also so defeated, shall be revived. A person who is absent from the commonwealth for ten consecutive years shall lose his settlement.

From these facts it appears that Mary F. West had, on Dec. 25, 1862, a settlement in Tisbury derived from her husband, Edward F. West. This settlement was not fully acquired subsequent to May 1, 1860. The existence of it did not prevent a subsequent acquisition of a settlement by Mary F. West, for she has not since that time lived any period of five years in that town without receiving relief as a pauper. Any settlement which she had prior to her marriage was not acquired subsequent to May 1, 1860, she having married Edward F. West in 1840. It follows that by the operation of Acts of 1898, c. 425, § 2 (R. L., c. 80, § 6), the settlement of Mary F. West in Tisbury was defeated and lost.

The question raised by the present question is whether the settlement of Amelia F. West, which was derived from her mother, was also, by the operation of this statute, defeated and lost.

R. L., c. 80, § 1, cl. 3, provides: —

Illegitimate children shall have the settlement of their mother at the time of their birth if she then has any within the commonwealth.

In St. 1793, c. 34, this provision was in the following form: —

Illegitimate children shall follow and have the settlement of their mother at the time of their birth, if any she shall then have, within the Commonwealth. . . .

This statute was interpreted by the court in Boylston v. Princeton, 13 Mass. 381. In that case it was said: —

The rule, as now established, is that illegitimate children shall have the settlement of their mother at the time of their birth; meaning, as we apprehend, that the settlement which the mother had at the time of the birth of the child should be the settlement of the child, until it should gain a new settlement by its own act.

This is even more clearly the meaning of the statute in its present form; consequently, Amelia F. West, by reason of her birth in the town of Tisbury and by reason of that fact alone, acquired a settlement in that town which was unaffected by any change in the settlement of her mother. The birth taking place after May 1, 1860, the settlement was fully acquired subsequent to that date, and it was consequently not defeated and lost by the operation of St. 1898, c. 425, § 2 (R. L., c. 80, § 6).

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Trust Company — Loan to Single Individual — "Surplus."

A trust company, subject to the provisions of R. L., c. 116, § 34, may not legally loan money to a single individual in excess of one-fifth of its surplus accounts and paid-up capital, excluding the profit and loss account.

OCT. 16, 1906.

Hon. PIERRE JAY, Bank Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: — My opinion has been orally requested by you as to whether the phrase "surplus account," in R. L., c. 116, § 34, shall be taken to include or exclude undivided profits. The section is as follows: —

> The total liabilities of a person, other than cities or towns, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a firm the liabilities of its several members, to such corporations having a capital stock of five hundred thousand dollars or more shall at no time exceed one-fifth part of the surplus account and of such amount of the capital stock as is actually paid up. . . .

It has been argued that the case of Leather Manufacturers National Bank v. Treat, 128 Fed. Rep. 262, is in point, but the court expressly recognized in that case the fact that the term "surplus," as used in the nomenclature of banks, does not include undivided profits. On page 264 the court said: —

> Undivided profits do not become a part of this fund until they have been assigned to it by some formal act of the institution; and it is for the directors and not for the taxing officers of the government to determine when this should be done.

The decision was to the effect that the capital, for purposes of taxation and within the meaning of the statute, was all the money employed by the institution for banking purposes. On this ground it was held that the undivided profits were capital, and consequently taxable. It is in no sense a decision that the word

"surplus" includes the undivided profits. Indeed, the court expressly gives its opinion to the contrary.

In the Massachusetts statute the term used is "surplus account," which evidently indicates a fund set aside under a particular account.

It seems to me clear that a trust company, subject to the provisions of section 34, above quoted, cannot lawfully loan money to a single individual in excess of one-fifth of its surplus account and paid-up capital, excluding the profit and loss account.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Insurance — Fire Insurance — Explosion.

A fire insurance company may not add to its policy a slip or rider, containing an agreement that, in consideration of the payment of an additional premium, the policy shall include loss or damage by fire caused by an explosion upon the insured premises, payment in case of loss to be at the value of the property before such explosion, since the effect of such policy is to provide insurance against loss from explosion.

Nov. 5, 1906.

Hon. FREDERICK L. CUTTING, Insurance Commissioner.

DEAR SIR: — You ask my opinion as to whether a fire insurance company may attach to the standard form of policy a rider which reads as follows: —

In consideration of an additional premium equal to ten per centum of the amount of premium otherwise due on this policy, it is understood and agreed, in the event of any explosion on the premises covered, fire ensuing, this company shall pay the loss on the property hereby insured and injured by fire at the value thereof before the explosion, provided, that if there is other concurrent insurance upon the insured property damaged this company shall be liable only for such proportion of the loss or damage as the amount hereby insured bears to the whole amount of insurance thereon, whether such other insurance contains a similar clause or not.

The question is, "Can a fire insurance company insure against loss or damage by explosion when a fire does ensue?" This question, in a slightly different form, was answered in the negative by a former Attorney-General (see 1 Op. Attys.-Gen., 431), and that unquestionably is the law. The rider above quoted, however, attempts to evade this prohibition by purporting to insure loss on property "injured by fire."

Inasmuch as payment in case of loss is to be made at the value of the property "before the explosion," the policy, in effect, insures against the loss arising both from the explosion and from the fire; and from the fact that an additional premium is charged, it is evidently intended to cover loss caused solely by explosion. Such a rider cannot lawfully be issued by a fire insurance company.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

City and Town — Debts — Refunding or Renewal.

Under the provisions of R. L., c. 27, § 18, that cities and towns may renew or refund any debts in securities payable within the period fixed by section 11 of such chapter, a note issued by a town to renew or refund a debt incurred for schoolhouse construction, and payable within the required period of twenty years from the date of the original issue, is a valid obligation of such town.

Nov. 19, 1906.

Hon. ARTHUR B. CHAPIN, Treasurer and Receiver-General.

DEAR SIR: — You ask my opinion as to the renewal or refunding of a note issued by the town of Walpole on Nov. 2, 1896, for ten years, in payment of a debt incurred for schoolhouse construction, which it was voted to renew for a period not exceeding ten years on March 5, 1906.

Section 11 of chapter 27 of the Revised Laws provides that debts incurred in building schoolhouses and other public buildings, and in procuring land therefor, shall be payable within twenty years. Section 18 of the same chapter provides that: —

> Cities and towns may pay, or provide for the payment of, any debts at earlier periods than is required in this chapter; or may renew or refund the same in securities payable within the required period.

It has been objected that renewal of this note would not be consistent with the provisions of section 12, which provides that eight per cent. shall be raised annually by taxation to pay the principal of notes payable at a period not exceeding ten years, but I think that section refers to "all other debts mentioned in section eight," and that the provision in section 12, line 3, "in all other cases may . . . establish a sinking fund," applies to a debt like this, which may run twenty years.

Under the law as it stands, it is my opinion that a note issued to renew or refund a debt, which renewal is payable within the required period of twenty years, is a valid obligation.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Violation of Pharmacy Law — Plea of Nolo Contendere — Conviction and Fire.

A plea of nolo contendere, followed by a fine imposed by the court, is a conviction within the meaning of R. L., c. 76, § 17, providing that the Board of Registration in Pharmacy may suspend the license of a registered pharmacist only "for a cause punishable by law," and "after his conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction."

Nov. 30, 1906.

WILLIAM F. SAWYER, Esq., Secretary, Board of Registration in Pharmacy.

DEAR SIR: — You ask my opinion as to whether a plea of nolo contendere, followed by a fine and payment thereof, constitutes a conviction that would justify the Board of Registration in Pharmacy, under section 17 of chapter 76 of the Revised Laws, in suspending a certificate of registration of the party complained of.

R. L., c. 76, § 17, reads as follows: —

If the full board sitting at such hearing finds the person guilty, the board may suspend the effect of the certificate of his registration as a pharmacist for such term as the board fixes, but the license or certificate of registration of a registered pharmacist shall not be suspended for a cause punishable by law until after his conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction.

A record showing a conviction on such a plea is not admissible in another proceeding to show that the defendant was guilty. It is the intention of the statute to give a pharmacist charged with a crime the right to a trial in a court having jurisdiction of his offense; but if his guilt be there established, so that the court may impose sentence according to its powers, then it is sufficiently established for the Board of Registration in Pharmacy to act upon their finding and to impose a penalty. Munkley v. Hoyt, 179 Mass. 108. In no way is the judgment of the Board upon the question of the guilt of the party to be affected by the proceedings in another court, as the purpose of the statute is to give the Board power to hold an independent hearing; but while the record is not admissible in another proceeding, there is no doubt that a sentence imposed after a plea of nolo contendere amounts to a conviction in the case in which the plea is entered. White v. Creamer, 175 Mass. 567. That being so, it is my opinion, from the facts stated, that a conviction has been had by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

State Officers or Boards — "Day's Work" — Contract — Materials or Supplies.

A State officer, board or commission must, under the provisions of St. 1906, c. 517, insert in every contract made by such officer, board or commission in behalf of the Commonwealth, excluding contracts for the purchase of materials or supplies, a clause requiring that no laborer, workman or mechanic employed under such contract shall be required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, whether or not such contract is to be executed within the Commonwealth.

The words "materials or supplies" should be construed to include articles to be used in the creation of a mechanical structure, and upon which no work is to be performed under the contract.

DEC. 12, 1906.

WILLIAM S. YOUNGMAN, Esq., Secretary, Charles River Basin Commission.

DEAR SIR: — Replying to your letter of the 28th, in which the Charles River Basin Commission requests my opinion as to whether the commission "must put into every contract for supplies made in Massachusetts, and even though of standard character, such as nails or iron pipe, the following provision: 'No laborer, workman or mechanic in the employ of the contractor, sub-contractor or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or any part of the work contemplated by this contract, shall be required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day;'" and second, as to "whether the provision above quoted must go into every contract for supplies, where the supplies are furnished by a manufacturer whose plant is located outside of the Commonwealth." Section 2 of chapter 517 of the Acts of 1906 provides as follows: —

Every contract, excluding contracts for the purchase of material or supplies, to which the Commonwealth, or of any county therein, . . . is a party which may involve the employment of laborers, workmen or mechanics shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman or mechanic in the employ of the contractor, sub-contractor or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract shall be required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day.

Section 3 provides: —

This act shall apply to all laborers, workmen or mechanics engaged upon any works which are or are intended to be the property of the Commonwealth. . . .

Such provision should therefore be inserted in every contract except contracts for the purchase of materials and supplies, whether the plant of the manufacturer with whom such contract is made is located in the Commonwealth or elsewhere. I think the Legislature intended the words "material or supplies" to include articles which are intended to be used in the creation of a mechanical structure and upon which no work is to be done under the contract. Nails and iron pipe would, in my opinion, be material or supplies within the meaning of the statute.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

Public or Private Schools — State Normal Schools — Pupils — Street or Elevated Railway Companies — Special Rates.

Pupils in State normal schools are not entitled to the benefits of R. L., c. 112, § 72, as amended by St. 1906, c. 479, providing that "the rates of fare charged by street or elevated railway companies for the transportation of pupils of the public or private schools . . . shall not exceed one-half the regular fare charged by such street or elevated railway company for the transportation of other passengers."

DEC. 19, 1906.

C. B. TILLINGHAST, Esq., Treasurer, State Board of Education.

DEAR SIR: — The State Board of Education ask my opinion upon the following question: "Are the pupils in our State normal schools entitled to the benefits of chapter 479, Acts of 1906?"

The statute above referred to was first enacted in Acts of 1900, chapter 197. This statute was embodied in R. L., c. 112, § 72, which is as follows: —

The rates of fare charged by street or elevated railway companies for the transportation of pupils of the public schools between a given point, from or to which it is necessary for them to ride in travelling to or from the school houses in which they attend school and their homes, whether such school houses are located in the city or town in which the pupils reside or in another city or town, shall not exceed one-half the regular fare charged by such street or elevated railway company for the transportation of other passengers between said points, and tickets for the transportation of pupils as aforesaid, good during the days when said schools are in session, shall be sold by said companies in lots of ten each. A railway company which violates the provisions of this section shall forfeit twenty-five dollars for each offence.

By Acts of 1906, chapter 479, this latter provision was amended by the insertion of the words "or private" at the end of the second line, so that the provision of law was applicable to the "transportation of pupils of the public or private schools."

The term "public schools" may be considered as synonymous with "common schools," and as so used its meaning is well settled. So it has often been defined in connection with the Constitution, Article of Amendment XVIII.: —

All moneys raised by taxation in the towns and cities for the support of public schools, and all moneys which may be appropriated by the state for the support of common schools, shall be applied to, and expended in, no other schools than those which are conducted according to law, under the order and superintendence of the authorities of the town or city in which the money is to be expended; and such money shall never be appropriated to any religious sect for the maintenance, exclusively, of its own school.

In the case of Merrick v. Amherst, 12 Allen, 500, 508, it was said by Chief Justice Bigelow: —

The phrases "public schools" and "common schools" have acquired under the legislation and practice of this State a well-settled signification. They are never applied to the higher seminaries of learning, such as incorporated academies and colleges. These, in a certain broad and comprehensive sense, are public institutions, because they are controlled by corporations, and are usually open to all persons who are willing to comply with the terms of admission and tuition. But the broad line of distinction between these and the "public or common schools" is, that the latter are supported by general taxation, that they are open to all, free of expense, and that they are under the immediate control and superintendence of agents appointed by the voters of each town and city.

And again, in Jenkins v. Andover, 103 Mass. 94, 99, the court in speaking of public and common schools, said: —

> These are the schools to which the eighteenth article applies, — schools which towns are required to maintain, or authorized to maintain, though not required to do so, as a part of our system of common education, and which are open and free to all the children and youth of the towns in which they are situated, who are of proper age or qualifications to attend them, or which adjoining towns may unite to support as a part of the same system. . . . This class of schools does not include private schools which are supported and managed by individuals; nor colleges or academies organized and maintained under special charters for promoting the higher branches of learning, and not specially intended for, nor limited to, the inhabitants of a particular locality.

It appears, then, that the term "public schools" as used in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and as used in subsequent acts of the Legislature, refers and is limited to schools forming a part of the general system of education for the children and youth of the Commonwealth, such schools as, on the one hand, cities and towns are required to maintain for educational purposes, and, on the other hand, children are required to attend in order to obtain what is sometimes called "a common-school education."

It is clear, therefore, that the term "public schools" is applicable to those schools established and maintained by the public, at which the attendance of pupils is required and is not applicable to colleges or academies organized and maintained for promoting the higher branches of learning, or to textile schools or other institutions established and maintained for the purpose of instructing voluntary pupils in certain specific branches of education, mechanical or industrial, which do not form a part of the general system of education which the law requires to be maintained by cities and towns. See Hanscom v. Lowell, 165 Mass. 419.

I am of opinion that so far as relates to the present question the interpretation of the statute is not affected by the addition of the words "or private," contained in the amendatory act (St. 1906, c. 479), since it is obvious that it was the intention of the Legislature to confer a benefit only upon such pupils of private schools as are in process of obtaining an education similar to and in substitution for that which cities and towns must furnish in their common or public schools; and that it was not intended to include institutions established for the purpose of instruction in the higher branches of learning, or in various mechanical or industrial branches either under the control of private individuals or of the Commonwealth.

The status of students at a State normal school must, therefore, in my opinion remain unaffected by the amendment of 1906, and if such students are entitled to benefit at all by the provisions requiring street railways to carry pupils at half rates, it must be under the provision as contained in R. L., c. 112, § 72. This is the more obvious because in no sense can a normal school maintained by the Commonwealth for the benefit of its citizens and at the public expense be considered a private school. See Merrick v. Amherst, supra; Hanscom v. Lowell, supra.

It remains, therefore, to consider whether or not a State normal school is in any sense a public school within the meaning of that term as used in the Constitution and statutes of the Commonwealth. It is true that the State Board of Education is vested with the general management of State normal schools, and may expend the money appropriated for their maintenance (see R. L., c. 39); and being so maintained, they are undoubtedly public institutions. But the preparation of persons for the profession of instruction in common schools not being an essential part of the common-school system which the municipalities or the Commonwealth are required to maintain, in my opinion they are not public schools within the meaning of the statute. I am therefore obliged to answer the question in the negative.

Very truly yours,

DANA MALONE, Attorney-General.

RULES OF PRACTICE

In Interstate Rendition.

Every application to the Governor for a requisition upon the executive authority of any other State or Territory, for the delivery up and return of any offender who has fled from the justice of this Commonwealth, must be made by the district or prosecuting attorney for the county or district in which the offence was committed, and must be in duplicate original papers, or certified copies thereof.

The following must appear by the certificate of the district or prosecuting attorney: —

(a) The full name of the person for whom extradition is asked, together with the name of the agent proposed, to be properly spelled.

(b) That, in his opinion, the ends of public justice require that the alleged criminal be brought to this Commonwealth for trial, at the public expense.

(c) That he believes he has sufficient evidence to secure the conviction of the fugitive.

(d) That the person named as agent is a proper person, and that he has no private interest in the arrest of the fugitive.

(e) If there has been any former application for a requisition for the same person, growing out of the same transaction, it must be so stated, with an explanation of the reasons for a second request, together with the date of such application, as near as may be.

(f) If the fugitive is known to be under either civil or criminal arrest in the State or Territory to which he is alleged to have fled, the fact of such arrest and the nature of the proceedings on which it is based must be stated.

(g) That the application is not made for the purpose of enforcing the collection of a debt, or for any private purpose whatever; and that, if the requisition applied for be granted, the criminal proceedings shall not be used for any of said objects.

(h) The nature of the crime charged, with a reference, when practicable, to the particular statute defining and punishing the same.

(i) If the offence charged is not of recent occurrence, a satisfactory reason must be given for the delay in making the application.

1. In all cases of fraud, false pretences, embezzlement or forgery, when made a crime by the common law, or any penal code or statute, the affidavit of the principal complaining witness or informant, that the application is made in good faith, for the sole purpose of punishing the accused, and that he does not desire or expect to use the prosecution for the purpose of collecting a debt, or for any private purpose, and will not directly or indirectly use the same for any of said purposes, shall be required, or a sufficient reason given for the absence of such affidavit.

2. Proof by affidavit of facts and circumstances satisfying the Executive that the alleged criminal has fled from the justice of the State, and is in the State on whose Executive the demand is requested to be made, must be given. The fact that the alleged criminal was in the State where the alleged crime was committed at the time of the commission thereof, and is found in the State upon which the requisition was made, shall be sufficient evidence, in the absence of other proof, that he is a fugitive from justice.

3. If an indictment has been found, certified copies, in duplicate, must accompany the application.

4. If an indictment has not been found by a grand jury, the facts and circumstances showing the commission of the crime charged, and that the accused perpetrated the same, must be shown by affidavits taken before a magistrate. (A notary public is not a magistrate within the meaning of the statutes.) It must also be shown that a complaint has been made, copies of which must accompany the requisition, such complaint to be accompanied by affidavits to the facts constituting the offence charged by persons having actual knowledge thereof, and that a warrant has been issued, and duplicate certified copies of the same, together with the returns thereto, if any, must be furnished upon an application.

5. The official character of the officer taking the affidavits or depositions, and of the officer who issued the warrant, must be duly certified.

6. Upon the renewal of an application, — for example, on the ground that the fugitive has fled to another State, not having been found in the State on which the first was granted, — new or certified copies of papers, in conformity with the above rules, must be furnished.

7. In the case of any person who has been convicted of any crime, and escapes after conviction, or while serving his sentence, the application may be made by the jailer, sheriff, or other officer having him in custody, and shall be accompanied by certified copies of the indictment or information, record of conviction and sentence upon which the person is held, with the affidavit of such person having him in custody, showing such escape, with the circumstances attending the same.

8. No requisition will be made for the extradition of any fugitive except in compliance with these rules.
